Collapse of Conclave Sparks Fear of War

PLAINE DES JARRES, Laos, April 18 (AP)—A summit conference of the three leaders of Laos' coalition government collapsed today and Prince Souvanna Phouma announced he will ask King Savang Vathana to be relieved as premier. His departure could spark full civil war. The idea of the rightist, neutralist and leftist meeting was to turn the royal capital of Luang Prabang into the temporary administrative capital in an attempt to solve Laos' year-old crisis. Souvanna, a neutralist, came out of a field tent in which the leaders had been meeting for two days and said no results had been reached. He had conferred with Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the rightist faction leader, and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-communist Pathet Lao and half-brother of Souvanna. Souvanna, who has been premier for 22 months, told news-

GOP Tries to Tab Johnson As Spender

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Republicans have launched a concerted campaign to convince voters President Johnson is a record-breaking spender despite his call for frugality in government.

The current senate Republican policy committee memo, designed to keep GOP members up to date on campaign issues, contends that four out of five appropriations bills passed by the house "call for more spending by the Johnson administration" than under President John F. Kennedy.

The fifth bill, the memo said, carried a $7 million dollar reduction in funds for congress and legislative agencies such as the government printing office and the general accounting office.

The senate, tied up in a civil rights filibuster, has not acted on any of the regular departmental money bills.

Johnson's action in cutting the new budget below last year's total, his calls for reduction in the federal payroll and his turning off of White House lights appear to have gone a long way toward blunting the Republicans' favorite big-spending issue in the political campaign.

Reports brought back to Washington by members of congress from their homes states in the Middle West indicate that Johnson is showing considerable strength in ordinarily Republican areas largely because of his well-publicized economy efforts.

HAS SURGERY
WARSAW, Poland, April 18 (AP)—President Alexander Zawadzki, 63, underwent surgery two days ago for an ailment of the digestive tract, the official Polish press agency reported today.

Oakley Mother, T.F. Man Killed in Crash

Rusk Makes Field Trip In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, April 18 (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk toured relatively peaceful regions north of Saigon today and told villagers "we are with you every day, every week, until victory is achieved."

U.S. and South Vietnamese security men kept a grim watch in the belief communist suicide squads might try to kill Rusk.

Stringent precautions were in effect in Saigon, to which Rusk returned at dusk. The massive air-ground net set up to shield him on his arrival Friday was tightened after a terrorist bomb exploded in a military bus here early Saturday, wounding two U.S. servicemen.

Police intelligence reports said the communists planned a series of bomb explosions during Rusk's three-day visit, with electrical transformers, U.S. installations and American vehicles among the targets.

Wearing a brown, short-sleeved sports shirt, Rusk made a flying field trip with the strong man premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, in a U.S. air force C-123.

State Moose Spring Parley Being Held in Twin Falls

A meeting of state officers highlighted the Saturday meeting of the annual Idaho State Moose spring conference, being held Saturday and Sunday in the Twin Falls Moose hall. The attendance was good, but there were not as many present as expected it was reported.

A panel composed of Henry Evans, state secretary; Clifford Somers, state president; and Hayes Skill, state director, and Moose lodge representative, discussed ritual activities, civic affairs and reported on membership progress to date.

Rose McMullin, publicity chairman of the Twin Falls lodge, reported the membership exceeds 100 years and the total membership, nationwide, for the men is 1,000 and for women 225,000.

Nickel Does It

BISMARCK, N. D., April 18 (AP)—The internal revenue service office reported yesterday that a Williston, N. D., taxpayer managed to mail his income tax return in on time, despite the lack of a stamp.

The taxpayer simply taped a nickel to the envelope and dropped it in a mail box in time to be postmarked before the Wednesday midnight deadline. Postal employees stamped the cancellation over the five cent piece.

Wreckage of Jet Is Found In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 18 (AP)—Divers reached the wreckage of a jetliner in the Persian gulf today and reported they have given up all hope of finding any survivors among the 40 persons—23 Americans—aboard, an airline spokesman said.

The French-built Caravelle of Middle East Airlines-Air Liban plunged into the gulf while trying to land in a swirling sandstorm Friday night at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. It was just minutes from landing time at the end of a two-hour nonstop flight from Beirut.

Visibility at the time—11:30 p.m.—fluctuated between 200 feet and 1,500 feet. The pilot was reported making a normal landing approach when the plane lost contact with the tower in Dhahran.

Study Asked By Johnson On Manpower

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—President Johnson ordered a sweeping study today of military manpower policies to determine whether the draft can be eliminated in the 1970s.

Johnson made the announcement at his second news conference in three days, this one a 35-minute session in his office, not announced in advance.

The president said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will undertake the one-year study to "consider alternatives to the present draft selection system, including the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Asked if this foreshadowed a cutback in military strength, the chief executive said: "I wouldn't want to anticipate the results of that study. Of course, it is the hope of everyone that tensions in the world can ease, that we can bring about disarmament, that we can take part of the resources that are now going into military production and protection and 'spend them on a better society and a greater society.'"

Draft calls this year have run between 16,000 and 12,000 monthly.

Regional Methodist Youth Parley Opens

"God is not necessarily concerned about religion, God is necessarily concerned about persons," stated the Rev. Ted McIlvenna, San Francisco. The Rev. Mr. McIlvenna was a featured speaker at the annual Methodist Youth Fellowship conference assembly being conducted this week-end at the Twin Falls Methodist church. He spoke to a group of about 250 high school students from throughout Idaho and a portion of Oregon, on the problems young adults face when they move to the city. He said, "About two out of three young adults will live in urban areas by 1970."

The Rev. Mr. McIlvenna, who is a leader in an action-research project in San Francisco, gave brief explanations of housing problems in the city, employment in the age of automation, the changing morals of the city, the mission of the church in the city and the general social problems faced.

Concerning the mission of the church, he said, "It is not that of being the watchdog of middle class morality, but is the proclaiming of God's concern for individual human beings."

The other main speaker for Saturday's session was Michael See YOUTHS, Pg. 2, Col. 4

J. Seabeck Leases Firm In Spokane

SPOKANE, April 18 (AP)—James P. Seabeck, Twin Falls, has leased the Stockland Union stockyards here. F. Wallace Rothrock, Jr., Stockland president said today.

Seabeck for the past six years has been part owner and manager of Twin Falls Livestock Auction company. Prior to that, Seabeck was with the Carstens Packing company here and in Tacoma for 23 years.

Rothrock will continue in his present capacity, managing other real estate involved in Stockland's 50-acre site.

Rothrock said Seabeck built the Twin Falls auction yard into "one of the most modern in the west."

"We're very happy with this lease," Rothrock said, "recognizing Seabeck's long experience in the livestock and marketing field and considering it to be a significant asset to the overall Stockland development."

De Gaulle Walks After Operation

PARIS, April 18 (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle took a few steps in his hospital room today and ate a normal lunch on the first day after his secret surgery.

A medical bulletin called his condition "very satisfactory." Associates reported the president would stay in the hospital about 10 days, then spend about another week convalescing, probably at his country estate at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises in eastern France.

Information from the sick room—on de Gaulle's direct orders—was limited to a few basic and reassuring facts. The bulletin issued said only: "Gen. de Gaulle passed a good night, took some nourishment and took several steps in his room. His condition is very satisfactory."

No further official news is expected before Sunday morning.

But government officials were busily explaining that there is no hope in power, that all contingencies had been foreseen.

The special command telephone for France's budding atomic force has been installed in Premier Georges Pompidou's office, and all pending business had been far enough advanced before de Gaulle went to the hospital so that there will be no inconvenience.

The dog should be licensed within 10 days after reaching the required age.

License tags must be worn at all times and the tags are not transferable. No refunds can be made. If the dog is not licensed by July 1 then the fee jumps to $3 for males and spayed females and $5 for unsprayed females.

Exempted under the provision of the new law are dogs properly trained to assist the blind and acting in that capacity, however, registration is required.

Under certain provisions kennel licenses are available where more than two dogs are kept for commercial breeding.

Dogs brought in from out of town for show purposes are also exempt.

Boy, 12, Is Carried 3,000 Feet Into Air by Balloon

MILL VALLEY, Calif., April 18 (AP)—A 12-year old boy, dangling from a rope, was carried to a height of 3,000 feet by a balloon today before the pilot realized the youngster's plight.

The pilot, William Berry, 36, Concord, Calif., then put the hot air balloon into a rapid descent and landed the boy safely.

Two Military Planes Crash Over Ohio

WILMINGTON, O., April 18 (AP)—Two C-119's apparently collided in flight tonight about 10 miles away from the nearby Clinton county air force base while approaching for a landing, killing about 14 of the 19 aboard.

The base spokesman said the planes carried 10 air force reservists on week-end training and nine army paratroopers out of Ft. Campbell, Ky. He said the extent of the casualties was not officially known, as he had received no word from the investigating team at the scene.

A newsman at the scene said there were 14 dead, and that 17 of those aboard had been accounted for. Three servicemen were reported injured, two critically, and taken to the Wilmington Memorial hospital for treatment.

Boy, 12, Is Carried 3,000 Feet Into Air by Balloon

As the lad was jerked into the air 75 horror-stricken spectators screamed. Some women knelt in prayer.

Berry, sitting in the balloon basket, could not see Nowell dangling directly below him.

At a height of 3,000 feet Berry sensed that something was amiss. He saw the boy and at once cut off the fans that forced hot air into the 50-foot-high balloon.

Berry descended gently in the back yard of Robert Dewalt, two miles from the launching.

Danny was taken to Marin General hospital where his left hand, badly discolored from loss of circulation, was treated.

New Bond

BURLEY, April 18—"Local banks are stocking up on the new $75 series F United States savings bond which goes on sale here May 1."

Volunteer County Bond Chairman Patrick J. Hamilton, Burley, said today.

"The new $75 bond bears a portrait of the late President Kennedy," Hamilton said, "and fills a gap in the lower-denomination range of savings bonds."

The chairman pointed out that savings bonds of each denomination bear portraits of deceased chief executives.

"While not a memorial to the late president, beneath his portrait the bond carries the words from his inaugural address: 'Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country.'"

"The issue date of May 1 coincides with the launching of a nationwide savings bonds campaign which runs until July 4."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Suddenly it seems a lot easier to sit in a chair in New York City, N.Y., and survey the world about us.

It is an international landscape dominated by that beautiful brass-knuckled brawl between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

What makes it particularly nice, aside from seeing two enemies swinging at each other, is that there is nothing we have to do about it—for the present, at least. As a result, it is almost impossible for us to make any mistakes. In this one, at least, the bloody noses are going to be all on the "reds' side."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has reflected upon Sany's smugness. He said he saw no reason why we should "try to intervene in that discussion... I think we will just have to let it go forward and see what happens." That, Mr. Rusk, is the way to talk. There is no reason why Uncle Sam should even hold anybody's coat.

POWER, NOT IDEOLOGY—Meanwhile, Americans should not be fooled by the mouthings from both Peking and Moscow that this is a struggle over the purity of the Marxist-Leninist doctrine. It is purely and simply power play. Both want to be the capital of the communist world, just as France and Great Britain used to fight over Europe. The difference is that Red China and Russia are fighting with words and political maneuverings rather than with guns.

For the West, the happiest result so far of this dialectical warfare is that it has destroyed the myth of "unbreakable solidarity" among communist nations. It has proved that nationalism still survives even under the red flag, and that historic enmities are not dissolved merely because two peoples share the same ideology.

AGE-OLD GRIEVANCES—Red China and the Soviet Union are both still communist and will stay communist. But they are not pals. They have conflicting cultures and they share a past filled with violence and suspicion of each other. The Russian czars stole huge territories from the Manchu emperors and these territories are a part of today's Russia. The Chinese have always been fearful of the racist Chinese horde, whose population nudges the Soviet border for thousands of miles.

Moscow has been beating that Nikita Khrushchev struck back at China's Mao Tse-tung because Mao had been guilty of a "terrible insult" to our party and the entire Soviet people" by demanding that the Russian reds toss Nikita out of office. This is grist for domestic consumption. Actually, Khrushchev started it back in 1959 when he reneged on an earlier promise to supply Peking with nuclear weapons. The Chinese took it from there.

Now Peking and Moscow are competing for the support of their comrades around the world. This should be fun to watch—from Union City, N.J. Moscow can count on East Germany, Bulgaria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the Indian communist party. Poland and Rumania are trying to play both sides of the fence. Peking and Moscow are about to discover that all seven communist allies—can be bloody difficult.

Views of Others

"IT SMACKS OF RUSSIA"
Missouri's Senator Long is performing a truly national service in his unending struggle with the government practice known as the "mail watch." The senator, in the absence of any official willingness to cease the practice, now proposes legislation to halt it.

In a mail watch, the postoffice department keeps a record of return addresses on all mail delivered to a person. Postal officers say they do so at the request of federal or local law enforcement bodies. The mail check may prove useful, for example, in investigations of suspected income tax evaders, by identifying firms from which they made purchases. Its "utility" is measured by admissions that there are 500-750 checks in effect at any given moment.

Useful though the practice may be to government, however, it is an unnecessary and legally unauthorized invasion of the citizen's privacy. Americans have a long history of protesting against the postoffice department in particular to protect it as such. The fact that officials do not open the mail, but only note the name of the sender, does not excuse meddling with the mail and interfering with private affairs.

In the perjury trial of Roy Cohn, once counsel to the late Sen. Joe McCarthy, it was disclosed that the government had been operating a check not only on his mail but on that of his attorney. He had the government to have intervened in the privileged relation of attorney and client.

Federal District Judge Archie O. Dawson in New York was shocked. "This smacks of Russia rather than the United States," he said.

Judge Dawson did not dismiss the charge against Mr. Cohn, or even agree to suppress any evidence obtained by the mail checks. No doubt the reason was that the law is not clear. There is no law specifically permitting the postoffice to operate such mail checks. Neither is there a law against it. But there should be a law against it, as Senator Long proposes. The mail check is, as Judge Dawson and Senator Long agree, a police state technique. Private correspondence is no longer private while it exists—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

DISCOURAGING

The long dispute between the railroads and unions is discouraging in one respect, at least—the failure of all the legal machinery designed to assure peaceful negotiation of differences. The railroads and unions took their dispute through all the processes prescribed by law. The case finally went all the way to the supreme court—and still the threat of strike hung over the nation. Then on the eve of a strike last year, congress stepped in and passed a law to prevent the walkout. It didn't.

Basically, this year's difficulty is just a postponement of the tris from last year when congress acted. It was an emergency measure designed to provide compulsory arbitration and continued negotiation. So after a year of haggling, the railroads and unions find themselves right back where they started.

It's still the same old case, the problem sometimes referred to as featherbedding. Some observers predicted the matter had been settled when the supreme court ruled railroad management had the legal right to revise work rules that could eliminate up to about 30,000 employees. But in the wake of last year's emergency legislation, the unions now are appealing the constitutionality of the emergency law to the supreme court. There just doesn't seem to be any peaceful settlement in sight, at least not in the near future.

In the light of the discouraging record, a citizen may wonder what would have happened if the shoe had been on the other foot, that is, if the supreme court decision had favored the unions. The U.S. has made no move to bring compliance with the supreme court decision that would have the way for elimination of some 30,000 jobs.

COURAGEOUS ACTION
Port of Seattle wisely wants no part of any campaign to block improvement of eastern Washington river navigation. The port's commission, this week had said so by formal resolution.

"A strong and growing economy in that area," the port declared, "will also strengthen Seattle and the entire Pacific Northwest." The port urged "special attention... to possible new business, rather than mere diversion of traffic from one means to transportation to another."

Last month, Seattle's Chamber of Commerce took the opposite view. In its addendum to the port's commission's statement of position on the matter, the chamber took a stand recently taken by Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Which brings us to this: From the standpoint of Seattle and the state, port and chamber separately either are wholly right or wholly wrong. We believe the port of Seattle to be right, and that it deserves credit for courageously taking statesmanlike action—Seattle Argus.

POT SHOTS

SPITE FENCE?
Potshots: See where Idaho and Utah are at it again; this time on the problem of Utah residents wanting to use their boats on Idaho waters.

And I really don't think there's been any final solution to that problem of Idahoans using their Idaho-licensed cars in Utah without penalty. Or maybe that has been settled; I truthfully don't know.

Anyway, with all the squabbling back and forth, let's build a spite fence on the border. Perhaps Utah would chip in and help pay for it. You know, that's the way neighbors do when they can't get along—just put up a big high fence so they don't have to look at each other.

SAFE GUESSING
Dear Sir:
There's an absolutely safe way to be a seer, a person who can peek into the future and foretell what will happen.

As soon as something of note has happened, bustle forth with the news that you predicted the event right down to the last detail. Furthermore, give the specific date you predicted what was going to happen.

But under no circumstances should you ever tell anyone what you're predicting until AFTER it has happened!

This system is absolutely infallible. You can take credit for predicting storms three months in advance, dry years or wet years a decade in advance, the winners of the world series before the season starts and what's going to happen on the stock market.

Just make sure you keep your predictions to yourself until after they've happened!

Real Cat Lover, Twin Falls—Thanks, but Pot Shots isn't going to be caught in the middle of that law, as we've declared repeatedly before. Inasmuch as it qualifies as a public controversy, you should feel free to state your opinions over your true name in the Public Forum. Sorry.

DON'T GRIPE!
Sir:
All winter, I have driven up and down Shoshone street complaining to myself about the bumpiness of the street. That tar, used, I presume, to seal up the cracks, just didn't smooth out very well.

So we had a couple of warm days and now that tar is getting gooey and slipping up on the bumper and under the fenders of my car.

What'll happen next?

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

PORTLAND, Ore., April 18 (AP)—Part of the attraction of the campaign to nominate Henry Cabot Lodge for president is its artless, amateur quality.

A young lawyer, David B. Goldberg, and a young woman, Sally Saltonstall, niece of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Caroline Williams have come here from Boston to work in a big, half-empty headquarters with the same zeal they gave to the New Hampshire primary campaign. As by all indications the result will be the same—a Lodge sweep, with Oregon's 18 delegates pledged to the ambassador to Viet Nam who is 8,000 miles away keeping a discreet political silence.

These young people talk the jargon of politics. They worry about "peaking too early." Then in the next breath they ask what peaking too early means. Or does it mean anything at all?

The answer to this last is almost certainly no. For the professionals have worked up a special vocabulary to describe the mysteries of their craft. To the average citizen it has about as much relevance as Urdu or Swahili. In September, 1952, the pro-republican was General Eisenhower, the Republican nominee in that year, for not campaigning harder, and there was a famous editorial describing him as running like a dry creek. If he had made his dozen nationwide television addresses, with one flinging himself back and forth across the country, he would, it appears in retrospect, have won by almost as large a majority in November as he did.

With New Hampshire's 14 and Oregon's 18, if the portents prove correct in the primary on May 16, Lodge will have 32 delegate votes plus the 34 of Massachusetts. A delegate slate pledged to Senator Saltonstall will be for Lodge and, it is expected to triumph, over a slate pledged to Sen. Barry Goldwater.

He will thereby become one of the two or three men to be chosen by the convention in San Francisco. The polls show that if his name were on the ballot in California he would carry that state with its 56 delegates. Most significant when pitted against President Johnson in California's field poll he rates 38 per cent to the 56. Against the other candidates the President does 70 per cent or better, with Goldwater scoring lowest.

All this creates a fury in the breasts of those who have been beating out their brains and their muscles to carry the day in this western slope. Goldwater's managers growl angrily over the showing photographs of Lodge in various aspects of his career as they are displayed in the shop front of the headquarters in Portland's business street.

One is a World War II photograph showing him on active duty in helmet and manning an anti-aircraft gun. This is serving today in a post that is not without real physical danger. But, as his rivals complain, the photograph is 20 years old. Goldwater has called it "a campaign in effigy."

The bitter complaint of the pros, and the reason they rate him out as a candidate, is that in the No. 2 spot in 1960 he was a highly independent campaigner. As one of the Goldwater publicans who worked with him in the West put it:

"We didn't mind his taking a nap after lunch every day. But he had to have to put on his pajamas that immobilized him for two hours at least."

There are groups about his preference for prunes and yogurt and his campaign fare served up at the headquarters at which a candidate is expected to orate after midnight through endless dreary count-downs of the clock. But Lodge's resistance to the frenzied demand to campaign everywhere and to utter constantly 16 hours a day has a certain element of common sense.

In losing the election four years ago by a hairline margin, Richard Nixon made several mistakes. Perhaps the principal one was in trying to be everywhere all the time. He rushed to Alaska to South Carolina to Alabama to California in the twinkling of an eye, and one result was that he was tired and drained. That was true in the televised debates which may have cost him the election.

Lodge, with the supreme assurance that is part of his temperament, may carry independence and restraint for him in the campaign in the face of the less frenzied would make a markedly good sense. If the publicans want a candidate with this quality Lodge is their man.

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—Sideways comments of a Pavement Plato.

Do you knock on wood three times to avoid bad luck?
Do you carry a silver dollar or some other object in your pocket to bring good luck?
If your answer in both cases is no, then you are not a believer in the two most common American superstitions. But that by no means is proof you aren't superstitious.

Many people go through life without becoming religious, at least to the extent of adhering to a formal creed, but few of us escape becoming devotees, consciously or unconsciously, of some of the thousands of superstitions that exist in the world. The universe is large and man is small, he has sought since the dawn of his time to find some way of being less unaganda, might try to turn the Soviet Union back into a belligerent direction. This is the danger in Khrushchev's death.

What is still unknown about the Soviet Union is how much power the party chiefs have in choosing a successor and controlling policy.

In the hot shade of dust-covered palm trees in Recife, Brazil, Severino Luiz da Silva, 36, stood in line to interview Gov. Miguel Arraes of Pernambuco state in Brazil's communist-Infested parched northeast.

It was open house for Arraes, the day in which each week he received in the patio of the governor's palace, the peasants who came to him with their complaints and requests.

Arraes had been elected with communist support and he himself never had confirmed or denied that he, too, was a communist.

Certainly he had won on a platform unfriendly to the United States.

Da Silva, in patched shirt and trousers, a feet thrust into torn sandals, had both complaint and a request. From his landlord he wished to purchase an unused hectare (two and a half acres) of land on the absentee owner's sugar plantation.

The owner had agreed but for a price of $900. For Da Silva, earning 25 cents a day for nine months of the year, nothing for the other three, and with a family to support, the price was impossible. Da Silva, already 36, had a remaining life expectancy of about two years.

In Rio de Janeiro, 1,200 miles to the south, a poster plastered against a brick wall on one of the city's main shopping streets, portrayed a bearded Fidel Castro standing over a crying woman and child. A slogan beneath proclaimed, "Assassin of Cuba."

Clearly it was a manifestation of Rio's basic anti-communism under Gov. Carlos Lacerda of Guanabara state.

In a cliffside not more than a mile away on the road to the luxurious tourist hotels of Rio's Copacabana, a burning candle proclaimed a voodoo hex on a nearby Catholic church.

It had been placed there by the dwellers of one of Rio's "favelas," the hilltop slums which abound in Rio.

This was a year ago when this correspondent last visited Brazil but in these examples lie some of the contradictions which tear at Brazil internally and compose some of the tragic problems which face its new revolutionary regime.

There are the marks of poverty and ignorance and of deplorable living conditions which mark a man for death when he should be in his prime.

The mere renunciation of relations with Cuba will not solve them. Nor will political announcements no matter what their high resolve.

The new regime, which is in fact a military one despite lip service to the constitution, has promised to present adequate compensation to present owners. Other reforms also have been promised.

Brazil's military has a record of respect for democratic procedure and there is no doubt that a strong hand was needed if Brazil's steady drift into economic and political chaos and to the left were to be halted.

Rankin Sells Large Ranch In Montana

HELENA, Mont., April 18 (AP)—Wellington D. Rankin, one of the largest landowners in the United States, put in a busy day today answering telephone inquiries about his latest deal—sale of the largest ranch in Montana.

Rankin, interviewed in his office in a 15-year-old Helena building, declined to say how much was paid for the land, formerly known as the Miller ranch. The sale was made to about 25 families, corporations and grazing associations.

The transaction involves about 300,000 acres of land near the Canadian border and estimates of its value ranged up to $5 million. The land takes in good portions of two Montana counties and is more than one-third the size of Rhode Island.

Sale of the land barely dented Rankin's over-all land holdings. "It was about one-fifth of what we have in 16 ranches," he said. Rankin, who is 80, said some of the telephone inquiries came from businessmen who heard about the sale of Miller ranch.

"They wanted to know if I was in a selling mood," he said. "I'm not."

No cattle were involved in the sale and it is estimated there are about 30,000 head of cattle on Rankin's ranches, making him the largest cattle raiser in the beef-growing state of Montana.

The Miller ranch sold by Rankin Wednesday consisted of 130,000 acres of deeded land and 170,000 acres of leased land. With the sale, it will be subdivided into 25 parcels.

Rankin bought the ranch in 1958 from Chris and Henry Miller, brothers who were then in their 80s and who operated the ranch about 65 years. The sale price was not announced then. Chingok is the closest town to ranch headquarters.

Georgia State Patrolmen to Get Rewards for Reducing

ATLANTA, Ga., April 18 (AP)—Georgia state patrolmen, ordered to lose more than three-and-a-half tons in overweight, have been promised a reward that most women relish when they, too, go on a diet—new outfits.

In the troopers' case, they're getting new uniforms—but not until September, their deadline date for trimming down.

As an extra enticement, the troopers will get Sam Browne belts, which admittedly will look smarter on pouches of officers.

The order went out last June to the 418 members of the state patrol—lose more than three-and-a-half tons by September of 1964. Three—hundred—and-one were overweight.

The results: More than two tons lost after 11 months of dieting.

And the punishment if they don't lose? Disciplinary action.

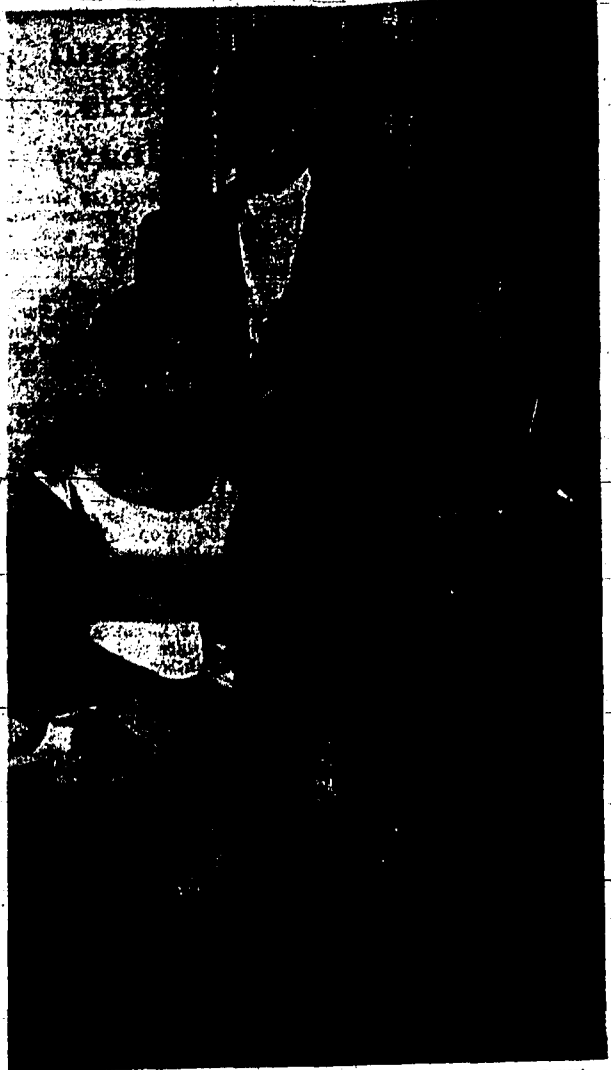

"I issued the order," said Col. Lowell Conner, boss of the troopers, "and I expect it to be followed like any other order."

"I told them I didn't care how they lost it, just so they came within five pounds of what they ought to weigh."

One hefty officer quit just after the diet order was issued. He gave no excuse—but fellow officers said he would have had to lose between 80 and 60 pounds.

"There's not a scale large enough to weigh me," another rotund officer complained. He was told, "We'll take you to the "PIANIST TO PERFORM BURLEY, April 18—Louis Guastella, New York City pianist, will perform at 11 a.m. Monday at the Burley high school. He will present selections ranging from classic to popular music. He is accompanied opera singer Jerome Hines and popular singer Vic Dione.

THE MEDLEYS, who in private life are Mr. and Mrs. William Medley, will present a duo-piano concert at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the final concert of the season for the Mini-Cassia Community concert association in the Burley high school auditorium. Mr. and Mrs. Medley teach at Parsons college, Fairfield, Ia., during the college's three trimesters and during one trimester leave each year make concert appearances. They bring their own Baldwin grand pianos in a specially-built trailer.

Duo Pianists Will Perform For Last Burley Concert

BURLEY, April 18—The Medleys, concert duo-pianists and artists, will appear at 8:15 p.m. Monday for the final concert of the season of the Mini-Cassia Community concert in the Burley high school auditorium.

Friendliness and charm along with their exceptional musical abilities and their endless striving for perfection makes the Medleys (it's their real name) one of the outstanding two piano teams in the nation today, concert officials say.

In the past eight seasons, Bill and Pat Medley have established a place for themselves among "the greats" of American concert artistry, nationwide and throughout most of Canada. The succession of spontaneous acclaim from communities large and small attest to their musical talent and their ability to capture their audiences with their music wizardry.

The Medleys both have rich musical backgrounds. They received their bachelor of music degrees with high honors and their master of music degrees with "A" averages from the University of Tulsa. They have since studied with the eminent pianists, Lubochutz and Nemenoff.

They are artists-in-residence at Parsons college, Fairfield, Ia., where they perform their academic responsibilities during two of the college's three trimesters, and during their one trimester leave per year, remain active on the personal appearance circuit.

The charming pair brings its own Baldwin grand pianos in a specially-built trailer.

Critics have praised them from coast-to-coast, describing them as "the musical find of a decade." They have been playing two-piano concerts since shortly after their marriage.

Last May the American Weekly magazine with a circulation of over 10 million, featured the Medleys in a story and their hazardous trip in the Canadian North entitled "Good Day at Yellow Knife."

In the classroom where they assist in music appreciation and music theory courses in the college curriculum, they use "in person" demonstrations, in addition to handling keyboard instruction.

Students and colleagues marvel at their charm and warmth, just as audiences everywhere respond to each of their exciting performances.

Idaho GOP Facing Dissention

By KEN ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer

BOISE, April 18 (AP)—Idaho's Republican party is marching toward its state convention in Idaho Falls in June with deep internal rumblings that could erupt into serious warfare.

But party leaders are trying to patch up differences, or at least to get the most divergent elements to keep dissension to a minimum. Despite strong differences in feeling on a number of questions, the party may avoid an all-out split that could weaken GOP efforts in the campaign.

The conflict is basically between conservative elements in the party and more moderate elements. But there are differences even within those categories.

A primary question for the convention will be whether its 14 votes at the national convention in San Francisco should be committed to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., the favorite of probably a majority of party workers.

Both Gov. Robert E. Smylie, leader of the moderate element, and Sen. Len B. Jordan, R., Idaho, leader of a more conservative segment, have publicly declared that the delegation should be uncommitted and free to choose at San Francisco.

Smylie takes the position that Idaho's 14 convention votes aren't worth a convention battle that he says could result in the state voting for President Lyndon B. Johnson rather than the Republican nominee in November.

He said no candidate has approached him to ask for Idaho votes. Smylie said that shows 14 votes don't attract much interest.

The people who feel the delegation should be uncommitted say Goldwater could be out of the running by convention time and Idaho should be free to get on another bandwagon.

Chances of a committed Idaho delegation have diminished with Goldwater's failure to make a strong showing in the New Hampshire primary.

One observer, declining to be quoted by name, predicted that the people most strongly committed to Goldwater will demand that the delegation be committed. He said the result would be a "blood bath."

Another leader, however, said many Goldwater supporters will be willing to accept an uncommitted delegation, if, as expected, the delegates are Goldwater supporters.

He predicted that any move to commit the delegation to Goldwater will be voted down, after a set of delegates favorable to the senator are chosen.

Discord appears inevitable over the declared intention of Gov. Smylie to head the Idaho delegation as he has in the past. One Goldwater backer said Smylie should do as Sen. Jordan has done, and declare that he won't be a delegate.

Smylie hasn't endorsed any presidential candidate, but he is known to prefer someone more moderate than Goldwater.

Some Goldwater backers are so fervent that they say they will not work for another nominee if Goldwater isn't nominated. There are also some among the conservative who would like to get rid of the moderates and cast the party in a more conservative image.

A movement by the conservative element to take over leadership is considered anti-Smylie because it would weaken his power.

Young Musicians Present Gold Cup Award Recital

BY NORMA HERZINGER

Bright eyed and excited were the talented recipients as they received their gold cup awards at the Junior Music club Gold Cup recital and social hour.

These youngsters represent some of the most talented young musicians in our area and presented this talent at a recital held in the Fireside lounge of the First Presbyterian church.

This group of young people represent many teachers and all types of musical perfections. All students play in different classifications in all levels of achievement.

To arrive at a point to achieve this honor, many, many hours of practice and hard work has been given. This recital and social hour gave the youngsters a chance to perform for a mixed group, which strengthens the ability of the performer.

The gold cup plan is an optional award offered by the National Federation of Music clubs as an additional incentive and to obviate the disappointment Junior festival entrants experience when they lose their third consecutive superior rating.

This is the second annual gold cup recital, with 23 recipients receiving gold cup awards last year.

The awards are based on a five, three and one-point system, superior, five points; excellent, three points, and very good, one point. When a total of 15 points have been earned, the entrants are awarded a gold cup. For 30 points, a medium-sized cup is awarded and for 45 points, a large gold cup is awarded.

This year, 13 Twin Falls Junior festival entrants and three from Shoshone received gold cups. They are Julie Anderson, Angela Brown, Susan Brown, Susan Davis, Leila Hamilton, Mary McIntyre, Karen McKinney, Margaret Mead, Bill Hoffmann, Roger Warner, Greg Willis, Melody Youtz and Margaret VanOrman, all Twin Falls, and Donald Bennett, Katie Hansen and Dan Pogoaga, all Shoshone.

Shoshone Junior Music club members will receive their gold cups at a recital slated in Shoshone.

Miss VanOrman is the only entrant who qualified for the medium-sized cup, with a total of 30 points, which means six straight superiors. She received the 30 points through her participation in six Junior Music club festivals.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. W. H. Detweiler, Hazelton; Mrs. Henry Jones, Eden, and Mrs. H. E. Gundelfinger, Hazelton. All guests were welcomed by Junior Music club counselors.

Representatives from each Junior Music club served refreshments.

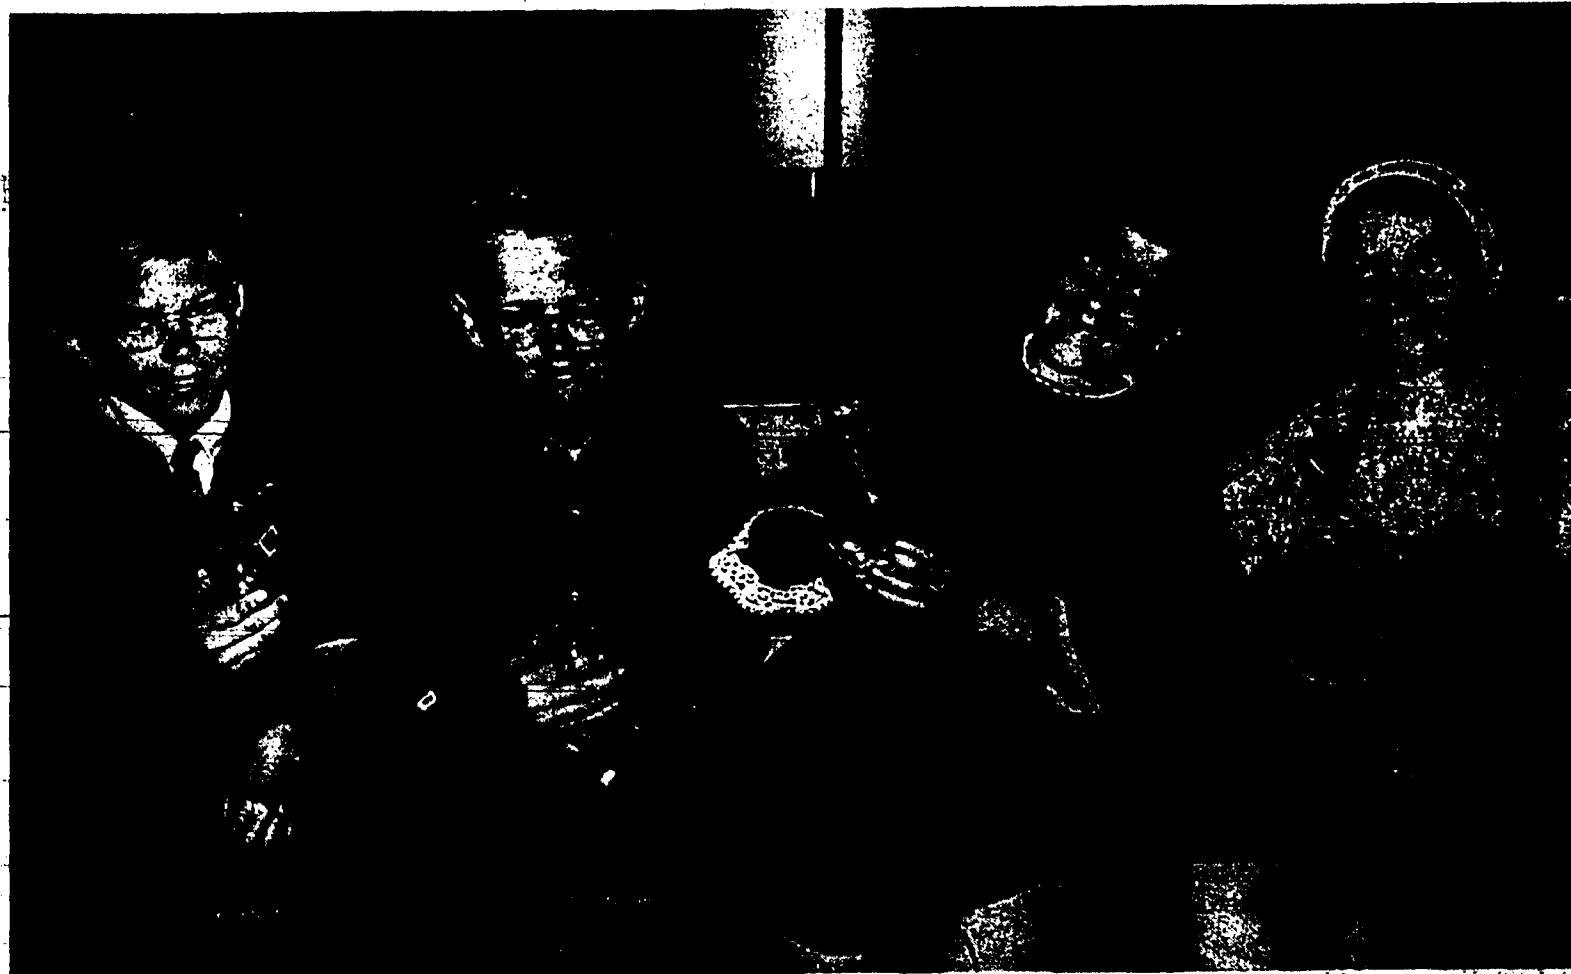

ORGANIST Karen McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McKinney, was among the young musicians receiving gold cup awards at the Junior Music club Gold Cup recital and social hour held at the Fireside lounge of the First Presbyterian church. ## Furniture Talk

By Russ Cunningham

Colors Change
according to the setting in which they are placed. Anyone who has ever tried to match paint knows how deceptive colors can be. One which looks perfect in the color chip, or even in the can, may be quite different on your walls.

This change-like quality of color, taking on different tones with varying light or shade, applies to fabrics as well as paint. Bear it in mind when choosing major pieces or accessories such as throw pillows.

A purple pillow, for example, may look vivid and strongly colored in the showroom, lying against a white background. But if you take it home and toss it onto a dark blue sofa, it won't seem vivid at all.

This same applies to other colors. The greater the contrast with the surroundings, the brighter the colors will seem. If you want to subdue color, use it with related shades. Remember, too, that sunlight will "wash out" colors somewhat, so consider the surroundings before selecting your colors.

We'll gladly help you with your color questions. It's a good idea to bring in color samples when possible if you're choosing new furniture or accessories. Stop in for all of your home furnishing needs!

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, April 19 — Born to day, you are very apt to be one of the "loners" of the world. A searcher after truth, you are not likely to be concerned with how well you get along with people, but how well you interpret the natural world around you. Interested in abstract things rather than the concrete, you are a philosopher at heart—and with education and training, you might well be one in fact.

It goes without further saying that you have a keen, alert mind. You also have an unusual ability to keep abreast of many things at the same time, to work out problems on several different levels at once, and, generally, to hatch and develop any number of ideas from one or a number of sources. One thing is certain: You will never be bored!

Because you are prone to live a great deal within yourself, you may find it difficult to meet and feel at home with people you don't know well. Avoid, if you can, taking the easy way out and retreating from strangers. Meet people half-way; you may think you don't need them, but it might make you happier to have them in your corner.

Among those born on this date are: Ferdinand, Austria; Gustav Theodore Fechner, German philosopher, physician, psychologist; Huntington Hartford, philanthropist.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, April 20

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Your personal hopes and desires come into especially keen focus now. Strive for a clear picture of where you're going.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Pay particular attention to the business details of your career. See that the means for necessary preparation are attainable.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Morning hours may well be confusing. Fight undercurrents of unrest; avoid giving in to feelings of frustration.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A disappointment this morning need not sabotage the entire day.

T.F. Meet

The Twin Falls city commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the City Hall auditorium.

Jerome Man Says Ministers Should Speak on Rights Bill

Editor, Times-News:

It is said that congressmen's mail is running ten to one against the civil rights bill. Yet certainly one sensible letter, such as that of the minister, from Gooding, should receive as much consideration as ten of the scared, paranoic missives sent by some objectors. However, be that as it may, the bill's ultimate fate will undoubtedly be decided through our usual political system.

In the meantime, do we need to suggest that certain people have no right to express political opinions? I don't think so. Ministers not only have a right to express their opinions but they also have an obligation to do so.

the same as all Americans. Ironically enough, this is one of the reasons for the bill.

Actually the bill seems O.K. It is impossible to see all the wild, frightening things in it that some opponents claim. It hopes to merely put federal teeth into some of the laws and customs that most local communities have always had to protect individual rights. So how could it make any great, terrifying changes?

Politics often get mighty indecent. And the coming elections may be an unusually good example of this. But we cannot tolerate curtailment of political freedom; in fact we must extend it. For in the end the future of

Kelley to Run In Marathon At Age of 56

BOSTON, April 18 (AP) — Johnny Kelley is a run-for-run addict whose muscular legs have carried him the equivalent of four-fifths the distance to the moon. At the age of 56 he will start his 34th Boston Marathon Monday.

No, this isn't schoolteacher Johnny Kelley, the ace of American marathon runners.

It's Johnny Kelley, the elder, the phantom florist from Watertown, Mass.

No man has approached his achievements in this race. His number of starts is a record.

Kelley won the event in 1935 and '45. He has been runner-up seven times and in the top 10 on 10 different occasions. He has failed to finish only three times. Last year he was 4th in 3:14:11, while the Kelley of Boston, Conn., was second to Belgian Aurele Vandendriessche.

Peters Hurls, Hits Chicago Past Boston

BOSTON, April 18 (AP) — The Chicago southpaw Gary Peters drove in four runs as the White Sox rolled to a 14-5 victory over Boston today.

Peters, helped his club to a 6-0 lead in the first inning with the first of his two doubles but the 1963 American league rookie of the year needed relief help before the White Sox nailed down their first victory in four games this season.

Peters, who will be 27 Tuesday, drove in three runs with his double in the first. His second double knocked in one of three Chicago runs in the third.

Celtics Defeat Warriors 108-96 To Lead Playoffs

BOSTON, April 18 (AP) — John Havlicek fired 16 points in a second period blitz and Bill Russell out-fenced Wilt Chamberlain as Boston defeated San Francisco 108-96 tonight. The Celtics, seeking a straight National Basketball association playoff title, showed no rustiness from a long layoff while taking the opener of the best-of-seven final series. The next game will be in Boston Monday night.

Havlicek's 28 points and 28 more by Sam Jones led the defending champions, while Wilt Chamberlain had 22 points for the Warriors, 10 of them before intermission.

When Clyde Lovellette replaced Russell after the latter drew his fourth foul late in the third quarter, San Francisco had cut the lead from 20 points down to 13.

But Lovellette hit his first four field goal tries from far outside and Willie Naulls came off the bench for a couple of hot spells to keep Boston out of danger.

Boston got the lead to stay just before the opening period ended on a Havlicek jump shot. That only whetted the appetite of the big sophomore who had vowed he would do more scoring in this final series than he had in the Cincinnati series.

Frank Ramsey came in to tighten the defense and got the first four points of the second period. Then Havlicek scored Boston's next 14 points including a string of eight straight.

Later, Havlicek got four in a nine-point Boston run. Meanwhile, Russell held Chamberlain scoreless from the floor in the second period as he deflected one of Wilt's attempts and forced him to take too many steps and three others. Russell also blocked three Warrior shots in that span.

The Celtics forced San Francisco into so many errors that Russell did not play the last 18 minutes of the game at Boston Garden.

The Warriors finally pulled Chamberlain from the floor with the Boston victory assured. Russell, despite playing considerably less time out rebounded Chamberlain 25-23 including 21-15 in the first half.

"I watched Ford leading a bat all the way time. He put his fingers to his mouth or wadded the sweat off his forehead. Then he'd go to the rear but only he wouldn't touch the bat with his index or middle fingers."

"Then the pitch would come jumping like a snake. He'd say, 'The first time you'll be thrown a slider, the next time a curve. I hit them pretty good. All I saw from then on was spitballs.'"

Nicklaus Shoots Second 66 to Tie Souchak for Lead in Houston Classic

HOUSTON, April 18 (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the pre-tournament favorite who trailed by nine strokes after the first round, fired a second straight 66 today to tie big Mike Souchak for the 54-hole lead in the $50,000 Houston golf classic. As the second round leaders faltered Nicklaus posted a 76-66-66—208 and Souchak, the 1959 Classic champion, collected rounds of 71, 69 and 68 to move into Sunday's final round five under par for the 7,233-yard par 35-36—71 Sharpstown Country club course.

Real Good Deal Wins In California Derby

ALBANY, Calif., April 18 (AP) — Real Good Deal, ridden by the 57-year-old Johnny Longden, won the $59,900 California derby at Golden Gate fields today, standing off the challenge of Wil Rad with Willie Shoemaker on board. Or et Argent finished third in the 1 1/4 mile test for 3-year-olds as the favored Nearco Blue finished fifth, six lengths behind the victor.

Longden, the world's winningest jockey, sent the son of The Pie King to the fore in the back stretch and held on to win by three-fourths of a length after going off the third betting choice of the crowd of 20,428 in the field of 11 sophomores.

Although Real Good Deal remains eligible for the Kentucky derby, his owner, Ellwood B. Johnston of Pasadena, Calif., said he did not plan to send the winner to Churchill Downs.

"My horse hasn't grown into himself," said Johnston after Real Good Deal ran the 1 1/4 mile in one minute 40 seconds flat, well off the track and world record of 1:45 4-5 set here by Noor in 1950.

Real Good Deal earned $37,400 and boosted his over-all earnings to $102,212.

The owner of Wil Rad said he will make the trip for the May 2 Kentucky derby. Nearco Blue was limping as he left the track and could be out of the run for the roses.

Longden declared, "this horse was a great runner," as the veteran won race No. 5,810.

The longshot Poona Khan set the early pace with Real Good Deal second. Turning into the back stretch, Longden sent his bay colt into the lead to stay.

Shoemaker had won at Keeneland in Kentucky Friday with Hill Rise, the colt he'll ride in the Kentucky derby. After flying to California for this specific riding assignment, the Shoe had Wil Rad driving on the turn into the stretch but Real Good Deal stood off the challenge as the California derby became a two-horse race.

Or et Argent was four lengths behind Wil Rad at the finish. Real Good Deal paid $10.20, $4.20 and $3.60.

Following in order were School Light, Nearco Blue, Count Charles, Game Ruler, My Captain, Stargazer, Ooyamo Pride and the early pace setter Poona Khan.

A grandson of Citation, Real Good Deal was one of four Kentucky derby eligibles racing over a fast track at Golden Gate fields. Wil Rad, Nearco Blue and Count Charles were the others.

Real Good Deal carried 114 pounds while the other three Kentucky derby eligibles had 118 under allowance conditions or this race. The seven non-eligibles had 114.

Houston Cops 4-2 Victory Over Braves

Cubs' Buhl Shuts Out Phillies 7-0

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP) — Bob Buhl gave up a 10-foot single in the first inning and did not yield another hit until the eighth in hurling the Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 7-0 victory over the previously unbeaten Philadelphia Phillies today.

Tony Taylor, leading off the first inning, was safe when his hit trickled barely onto the grass in front of the batter's box.

The 35-year-old right-hander then held the Phils hitless until Bobby Wine dropped a single in to short center in the eighth.

Buhl struck out seven and walked three.

In the fourth he hit Tony Gonzalez in the head, and the Phils' center fielder was hospitalized for observation.

Four Records Fall at AAU Swim Meet

PITTSBURGH, April 18 (AP) — Record breakers continued on their way tonight in the national AAU women's swimming and diving championships.

Four more American and championship records were set which means new marks have been set in all 10 swimming events held in the first three days.

Donna Devarona, representing the Santa Clara, Calif., swim club, became the meet's first double winner by successfully defending her 200-yard individual record in the record time of 2:12.4. Friday night she successfully defended her 400-yard medley crown in the time of 4:42.9.

The 1960 Olympian, who seems a sure bet to make this year's team, also finished second in 100-yard butterfly Saturday night losing by only one-tenth of a second to defending champion Kathy Ellis of the University of Indiana, Ind. Miss Ellis finished in 58.8.

Immediately after Miss Devarona won her second title Mrs. Barbara McAllister Talmadge of the Dick Smith Swim Gym of Phoenix, Ariz., stepped up and won her second crown — three meter diving — with 383.35 points. On Thursday she won the one-meter diving championship.

Pitcher Says Howard Was Struck Out

LOS ANGELES, April 18 (AP) — "Howard was struck out," John Taitouris said Saturday night after Frank Howard batted for a cheap ninth-inning single and saved the Los Angeles Dodgers from their first loss in 14 games.

"Howard hit a slider," said the catcher's right-hander. "It was over the plate and down — he didn't get out and down as much as he wanted it. I believe he'd have swung at it if I'd gotten it away from him a little more."

There were two out in the eighth and the count on Howard was 2-2 when the big outfielder hit a bouncer past the mound. Shortstop Leo Cardenas and second baseman Don Drysdale stopped the ball from going through — but couldn't make a play.

Right-hander Jim Maloney had a Dodgers hitless the first six innings, then retired because of a slight pull above his right hip.

"It was hardly a glowing performance," he said. "If I could have hit the ball hard and gotten a single, I would have been able to get them. At the same time I can feel a little sorry for the guys losing a no-hitter on the last day. They threw a good game. Both of them."

72 Gridders Open Drills At Moscow

MOSCOW, April 18 (AP) — Idaho football coach Dee Andros will greet some 72 hopefuls here Monday for the start of spring practice.

Andros will find 16 lettermen with at least one at every position. In five spots, however, second unit men have been upped to fill gaps left by graduation.

The big question marks are at guard, where Paul Don Matthew and Denny Alquist have left for the pros. Another spot is right end. Mike Mayne is also with the pros. Juniors Jerry Campbell from Spokane and Dave Triplett from Pocatello head up the guard candidates.

Max Leszczynski, a two-year letterman tackle, is billed as a top candidate for Mayne's job.

Tackle Jim Moran has followed the traffic to the pros but John Boken of Spokane, Dick Arns from Sandpoint and Vic Mann from Kellogg are in the running.

Varsity Vanders will hold intrasquad games Saturday after practice starts Monday. Idaho opens against San Jose in the California city with night game Sept. 19.

BYU Sweeps Past Arizona State

Five records were shattered as Villanova piled up 44 points and edged out defending champion Manhattan for the team title in the 10th annual Quins-Tons relay carnival today.

The Wildcats posted five gold-medal performances including a record-breaking 17:16.8 effort in the four mile relay, to nip the Jayhawks by one point. Morgan State was third with 46.

Desmond Stars ABC Warmup

Seven Marks Shattered in Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 18 (AP) — SMU's blazing half-mile relay team, John Camien with a 4:03.2 anchor mile for Emporia State, and Texas A and M strongman Danny Roberts were the standouts of the 39th Kansas relays today.

Seven meet records were smashed and two equalled in the closing day, bringing the two-day meet harvest to 12 records set or equalled.

Roberts set a shotput record of 60 feet, 2 1/2 inches. He won the discus at 176 feet, 9 inches Friday and is the seventh man in Kansas relays history to win both weight events the same year.

Southern Methodist ran a 1:23.4 in the half-mile relay, one-tenth of a second under meet record and eight-tenths over the world mark set by Bob Morrow and Abilene Christian in 1961.

SMU also won the 440-relay in 40.8 seconds.

Sophomore John Roderick anchored both teams.

Missouri missed both the meet and the world records with its 7:26.8 in the two-mile relay, despite Robin Lingle's 1:49.9 anchor half mile.

Lingle won by 50 yards.

Texas was expected to duel Missouri for a world mark in the two-mile but went for the distance medley gold medal instead and set a meet record of 9:48, anchored by Dick Romo.

Lingle blazed a 4:01 cleanup mile for a meet mark in the four-mile relay Friday and Romo chased him home with a 4:02.5.

The distance medley gave Texas its first relay gold medal on the Texas-Kansas-Drake relay circuit since 1950.

Ray Stevens of Lincoln, Neb., ran 3:47.9 in the Glenn Cunningham 1,500 meters and Hykle Van Der Wall of Manitoba U. won the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 8:56.3 for two more meet marks.

Records were equalled by Roger Bayers of Omaha with 10.3 in the 100-meter dash and by Lincoln U. of Missouri with 1:24.2 in the college half-mile relay.

Camien, a slender distance star from Floral Park, N. Y., hauled Emporia State to a meet mark of 9:48.4 in the college distance medley. It smashed the meet mark of 9:54.2 set by Tom O'Hara and Chicago Loyola last year.

Camien won by more than 200 yards.

THREE-LEGGED HURDLER, or so it appears, Willie May, a speedy hurdler from the Chicago Track club, clears a barrier in the 120-yard high hurdles at the Ohio State university relays Saturday. The real owner of the third leg is unidentified. May went on to win the event in 1:35. (AP wirephoto)

Twins Edge Solons 8-6 In 10 Innings

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP) — Tony Oliva's first major league homerun, a blast over the right-field fence on the first pitch of the 10th inning, led the Minnesota Twins to an 8-6 victory over the Washington Senators today.

The Twins overcame some long distance clotting by Chuck Hinton and Ed Brinkman. Hinton hit his first homerun, two triples to deepest center and a 410-foot fly to deep center.

Brinkman had a single double and a homer into the mezzanine in left.

The Twins added another run in the 10th on a walk two-base throwing error by loser Steve Ridenick and Gerry Zimmerman's single.

Eddie Perkins Decisions Grant To Retain Title

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 18 (AP) — Eddie Perkins, Chicago, successfully defended his world junior welter-weight championship tonight, pounding out a unanimous 15-round decision over young Jamaican Bunny Grant. Perkins weighed in at the weight limit of 139 for his second title defense of the year. Grant, a Kingston native, was 137 1/2.

Perkins shook off the effects of an eye cut and closed with a strong showing in the last four rounds, scoring repeatedly with beautifully executed combinations.

All the officials scored for the champion. Judge Anthony Petronella had it 148-139, Judge Vivian Blake 145-141 and referee Willie Pep, the former feather-weight champion, had it 147-140. The AP scored for the winner 145-141.

Perkins, 27, opened with a blistering attack that had Grant in some minor trouble in the first round, but the Chicago veteran then slowed down.

The crowd of 25,000 in the outdoor National stadium, highly partisan to Grant, 23-year-old British Empire lightweight champion, had its biggest chance to yell in the middle rounds when Grant took control chiefly on counter-punching.

He opened a cut over Perkins' left eye in the sixth. He opened it again in the eighth and ninth rounds before Perkins again gained control, largely on a winging left hook.

It was Perkins' second defense of the year. He gained a decision over Japan's Yoshinori Takahashi Jan. 4. He won the title from Dutillo Loi in 1963, then lost it back to the Italian later the same year. He regained it with a decision over Rolando Cruz in Manila last year.

It was only Grant's sixth defeat in 40 professional fights. Perkins' record is now 31-9-1.

Quadrangle Withstands Drive to Win

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP) — Quadrangle served notice today that the Kentucky derby is far from a two-horse race as he withstood a long drive for a one-half tenth victory over Mr. Brick in the 40th running of the $89,250 Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Running as if to show that Hill Rise and Northern Dancer will not have all of the derby to themselves, Quadrangle went the 1 1/4 miles in 1:49 1-5.

Mr. Brick who sat practically all of the early pace, was 1 1/2 lengths in front of Roman Brother, who had 4 1/4 lengths on Traffic.

Bill Hartack, who previously had won the first two races, had the son of Cohoes-Pap Bay away in second place as Mr. Brick bounded into a quick lead.

No more than 1 1/2 lengths separated the pair through the first one-half mile. But coming around the final turn, Quadrangle narrowed the margin to one-half length. With one-eighth of a mile to go, he had his head in front and Mr. Brick was unable to rally in the final yards.

Roman Brother came from off the pace to take the third round. After Traffic came Chelton, Sacred River, Knightly Manner, Twice As Gay and Timbeau in order.

The victory was Quadrangle's second in four starts this year. He was second and third in his two other outings after winning the Pimlico Futurity last year.

Minidoka to Vote on Levy For Schools

RUPERT, April 18—Minidoka county real property taxpayers will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a six-mill levy to increase revenue for maintenance and operation of the county school district.

According to a joint statement issued by the county school board, since the board has reduced the bond interest and redemption fund by two mills for next year, the proposed six-mill levy actually will be only a four-mill increase. The levy, if passed, will make a total levy of 36 mills for maintenance and operation.

The board feels this is badly needed since a shortage in last year's budget required a reduction in the teaching staff of 16 members, which left the other staff members overloaded. It was felt the levy increase would help remedy this situation and others.

The school system also had an increase of 150 students last year and expects the same increase this fall, the board stated.

The election will be held from noon until 8 p.m. Tuesday in Heyburn, Acquia, Washington, Lincoln and Paul schools. Only real property taxpayers can vote and a two-thirds majority is needed to pass the levy increase.

Small Dog Is Victim of Hemophilia

CHICAGO, April 18 (UPI)—A small dog named Mose is the victim of a rare disease that has afflicted several generations of the descendants of Queen Victoria.

The case of the Chihuahua-Pomeranian with the "royal disease" hemophilia was described to a convention of biologists in Chicago Friday by Dr. Paul Didsheim, University of Utah.

Hemophilia is a disease that prevents coagulation of the blood. Mose could bleed to death from a simple scratch.

Dr. Didsheim and research assistant Dorothy L. Bunting have made a detailed study of Mose at the University's college of medicine. They found that the pup's blood lacks the same factor that is missing in human victims of the most prevalent form of hemophilia.

The dog now is in the laboratories of the University of Pittsburgh, where an effort is underway to raise a colony of hemophilic dogs fathered by Mose.

Dr. Didsheim explained something about the genealogy of the disease. Only males are affected by it, and yet only women are its carriers. Queen Victoria was a carrier, and through her children the disease passed on to the royal households of Spain, Germany and Russia.

Mose was discovered to have hemophilia when a medical student living in the Salt Lake City home where Chihuahua was born, discovered that he bled at the slightest scratch.

Slave Day

SHOSHONE, April 18—Shoshone Future Homemakers of America will have its annual Slave day April 27.

The boys will work a full day for $8.

Ceremony Opens New York World's Fair Wednesday

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—With President Johnson heading dedication ceremonies on the inside and civil rights demonstrators trying to tie up highways outside, the billion-dollar New York World's Fair opens Wednesday to the first of 70 million or more expected visitors.

Despite strong determination of city authorities to thwart the highway demonstration, members of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality hope to create a massive jam on parkways and expressways adjacent to the fair.

They plan to do it by letting their own cars run out of gas in the fairgrounds vicinity. They also hope to enlist friends and sympathizers to do the same.

Leaders have expressed belief that as many as 3,000 automobiles might be employed in such a manner.

The demonstration is not directed at the fair itself, but was devised as a means of calling attention to the CORE goals.

Meanwhile, city Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes quickly put in a new regulation making it illegal to run out of gas on any parkway, expressway, bridge or tunnel. Offenders could be fined up to $50 for the first offense and considerably more for subsequent ones.

Barnes asserted that as many as 150,000 cars may be on the highways around the fair on any given day.

Police Commissioner Michael Murphy said the police department was making plans to keep traffic moving despite any "stall-in" activity.

The fair's gates will be opened at 9 a.m. Wednesday for the first of two 180-day seasons, one this year and the other next year.

President Johnson, Fair President Robert Moses, a large group of distinguished guests and a specially invited audience will gather in the 17,000-seat Singer bowl at 11 a.m. for formal dedication ceremonies.

The giant exposition, four years in the making, is the most expensive enterprise of its kind ever undertaken and probably will be seen by more people than any other fair in history.

Its total cost is figured at a billion. Original estimates were that there would be 70 million admissions during the two years. However, more than 28 million tickets had been sold far in advance of the opening and there have been guesses that the final total might reach 100 million.

The approximate mile-square fairgrounds, on what was once a dump heap and marsh in the Flushing section of Queens near LaGuardia airport, will provide a lavish spectacle of architecture and exhibits, rides and entertainment features of all kinds.

The fair, dedicated to "Peace Through Understanding," will be a wonderland of the marvels of yesterday, today and tomorrow.

At the Ford pavilion, the motor will board a 1964-model automobile for a trip through the past, present and future.

At General Motors, the chairs will carry visitors to "moon" and then through a series of scenes depicting the man will conquer the jungles and deserts. The winds up with an eye-popping "city of tomorrow."

School Exchange Assemblies Give Students Chance to Show Talent

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

Talent is a relative thing. Either you have it by natural birth, or you don't.

Polishing it is another thing. Either you get the opportunity to put your own special talent over or you don't.

In Magic Valley the accent is on permitting boys and girls of high school age, and even of junior high and grade school age, to "put it over."

Of course, the more polished and talented presentations come with experience, so, for the greater part, the talent thus displayed is in the high schools of the valley.

The medium of the presentations is through talent assemblies which are relatively new here, considering how long the schools have been in operation.

A typical school where talent assemblies have resulted in "unearthing" dormant or latent talents is Twin Falls high school.

After the talent assemblies, the horizon is the goal and is bounded only by the amount of practice the participant or participants really want to put into it.

At first, talent assemblies were arranged for the entertainment of the students of the particular school the young, budding artists attended.

Now, even that has changed. Someone along the line got the travel bug, so now schools sponsor not only their own talent assemblies, but, pooling the best acts available, arrange exchange assemblies with schools about the valley.

While the artists from one school are putting on a show in school A, for instance, the artists of school A will be at school B, and so on.

It is a good way to let the boys and girls blow off steam in a harmless way that will, at the same time, provide an audience for their talent.

Talent, or exchange assemblies can consist of almost anything from a full-grown dance orchestra to a solo act in singing or dancing. But anyway you look at it, it is worth seeing—and hearing. Speaking of hearing, there is one group at the local high school which comes in loud and clear.

Collectively—that is, their time together as an act added up—they are only about eight weeks old. In that time, however, they have made their mark.

Known as "The Bugs," they could be mistaken for the Beatles when they all wear their wigs. But, without the wigs, a couple of them stand out with crew cuts—thanks to Coach Paul Ostyn of the athletic department who wants his charges to be able to see where they are going.

Five boys are gathered into this newly formed group. Three play guitars, while the fourth strums the electric base. The fifth is the drummer who supplies the beat.

The music produced by Dave Pedersen, Bill Snyder, Don Hodge, Mike Walker and John Reed, is of the Beatle type.

It is not slow and not fast, but it is loud and loud itself to foot stomping and both youngsters and adults are fascinated by it.

Like some music types of the past, it is probably doomed for extinction even before it is well under way, but it will be remembered.

It probably will last for at least another year at the local school because only Reed will be lost by graduation this spring. If another drummer can be recruited, the five will go hot and heavy for another season.

Then, too, there are the girls. Talent galore springs from these young—and pretty—artists of song, dance and dramatics.

Right up at the top among the songster groups is a trio known as the Linpaul trio.

Linda Groves, Paula Kreilkamp and Linda Haskins are the members, with Miss Kreilkamp strumming the guitar.

And the music? Fast or slow, hot or cool—it really makes little difference because they are good at all types.

They have a year of experience behind them and another year to come. They are junior class members.

As Miss Haskins puts it, "We like the folk songs, but the presentation varies according to the mood and the moment."

Perhaps the most experienced group at the school is a quartet. Continued on Page 25

A product of talent and exchange assemblies, the girls practice often and, being juniors, have another year together. From left are Linda Groves, Paula Kreilkamp and Linda Haskins. ## Buhl Trout Farm Owner May Be Top U.S. Businessman for 1964

BUHL, April 18 — Robert A. Erkins, the 40-year-old "boy wonder" of trout production circles, has a good chance of being named as the outstanding small businessman of the United States.

It all came about as the direct result of his most successful operation of the Snake River Trout Company—the biggest operation of its kind in the world.

In fact, the trout farm produces more protein food for human consumption per cubic foot of water than any other spot on the face of the earth.

This statement is what caught the eye of the judges in the most sponsored annually by small business administration. It was the brainchild of Erkins, Grange, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

It was Grange who got the word of convincing Erkins his name should be entered for consideration in the national competition. As a result, the winners of Erkins, together with selected copies of national publicity the trout ranch received, were prepared by Grange.

Right now Erkins, inside information reveals, is practically certain to take top honors in national competition. Announcement of the winner for the 1964 has been held up because of the Alaska earthquake which forced an additional workload on the administration and thus the delay.

But those in the know say that Erkins will emerge on top and then, as a result, will enter national competition with many things in his favor.

In the Clear Lake area, where the famous trout ranch is located, the Erkinses reside with their seven youngsters. He openly terms his wife Bernadine the "brains of the outfit" and adds that she is secretary-treasurer. Erkins finds the talents of his wife, a graduate zoologist, a business asset.

For instance, in any given year the Erkinses entertain from 40 to 60 houseguests and they "drop in" from countries scattered around the world.

"These visitors come to find out just how trout this good are produced and marketed," Erkins points out, "and Bernadine (his wife) does the entertaining when we have them as guests in our home."

Articles in Reader's Digest, the Saturday Evening Post, the Culinary Review, the Denver Post magazine section and, in this area, the Times-News feature section have done much to get the operation before the general public.

Many of their guests, including those from places like England, Ireland, Tasmania, Mexico, Denmark and Japan, are "referred" at the request of the U.S. department of state and the department of the interior.

Even now, with the plant operating at top speed and the marvel of the nation, additional improvements are being constructed and others planned. The farm, as Erkins likes to refer to it, is blessed with an abundance of cold spring water which gushes out from the near-by Snake river canyon wall. Approximately 400,000 pounds of rainbow trout are produced each year for each of its three and one-half acres.

Erkins was born in Florida and received his formal advanced education at Notre Dame. He served in the navy and later promoted conventions for a California resort hotel before coming to Idaho in late 1952.

He started work in December of that year at the Snake River Trout company with the understanding that he would, in November, 1953, purchase 51 percent of the company and assume active management. This commitment was kept and the organization has been under his active management and guidance for more than 10 years.

In 1952 the organization produced 300,000 pounds of trout with a market value of $250,000. In 1964 it is estimated that production will reach 1,500,000 pounds and will be sold for approximately $1,000,000.

In 1952 the products were shipped to only 11 states. In 1963 production reached every state in the union, Canada, nine foreign countries and the armed forces around the world.

During these last 10 years the production plant has been completely rebuilt, hatchery facilities expanded and new products introduced. Much of the intricate machinery of the processing phase of the business could not be purchased, so it was designed and built by Erkins and his employees. In addition to the raising and processing of trout, the firm sells trout eggs to several foreign countries.

Erkins is not the kind to stand still. His interest keeps new ideas coming to the top. For in-has a good chance of being selected by the small business administration as the most outstanding small businessman of the U. S. The three and one-half-acre property will produce 1,500,000 pounds of trout this year. (Times-News photo)

SURROUNDED BY A FEW of the many pools where rainbow trout grow to selling size, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Erkins are shown at the Snake River Trout company near Buhl. As operator of the largest "trout farm" in the world, Erkins

HENRY THOMPSON HAS served as custodian at the Gooding schools for more than 25 years and has been a familiar sight to students for many years. Besides being a conscientious workman, he takes great interest in the students and their problems. He has 18 grandsons and most of them attend Gooding schools. His winter schedule begins at 6 a.m., when he must be at the junior high school to "fire up" the furnace, but in the summer he doesn't go to work until 8 a.m. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A familiar sight at GOODING schools over the years is Henry Thompson, who has served almost continuously as custodian at the Gooding schools since 1937. In fact, he was the first janitor at the Gooding junior high school building when it was built, and is serving in that capacity at the same building now. He worked there under Ida Frahm, principal, who also is still serving there, until 1943, when he left for another job for about a year and a half, but returned to the school, working at the high school until 1950, when he went back to the junior high building. Thompson, in addition to being a very conscientious workman, takes an above average interest in the students and their problems and fun.

At present he has grandsons, 16 of them, liberally sprinkled throughout the school system, and this keeps him interested in the elementary school, also.

Only 67 years young, Thompson begins his work day about 6 a.m. in the winter time, when he must be at the school to "fire up" the furnace, and if snow has fallen during the night, he usually will shovel some snow before returning home about 8 a.m. for breakfast.

He then returns to work at 9 a.m. and his workday sometimes ends about 5:30 p.m. but, if special events are held in the gymnasium, he will return to the school and remain sometimes until quite late at night.

During the summer his work becomes "easy" in that he goes to work at 8 a.m. and usually finishes the day about 5:30 p.m. It would seem that this should be a vacation time, but countless rooms must be repainted and desks sanded and finished, floors tiled, and all the multitude of items done to get the building in shape for the return of the students in the fall.

As if all this exercise weren't enough, he usually walks to and from school, and sometimes takes a fast run up the steps in the balcony of the gymnasium, the length of the balcony and down the steps on the other side just to "keep in shape."

An avid hunter "of anything" and fisherman, also of anything, Thompson spends much time in one of the other of these avocations, usually accompanied by one or more of his grandsons.

Thompson also has devoted several years to Scouting, and donated many more than the required hours to boys needing help.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson have one daughter, Mrs. Fred Willard, Kuwail.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

Truth Will Out

BY REV. WARREN L. HOWELL
Rector, Episcopal Church of the Ascension

The eminent columnist Walter Lippman once said that a debate takes place only when two people are in the same room at the same time talking about the same subject. Many a high school and college student has had this experience and professed by the discipline of learning how to face one's opponent and have to speak directly to the point.

Rev. Warren L. Howell

Also any debater knows that words are and can be used freely without any evidence or supporting facts. But whether this kind of academic jousting will win debates is another thing entirely.

Some of the happiest memories I have of my entire college experience back in beautiful Ohio were the many speech-contests and debate tournaments in which I was privileged to take part and represent my college.

One of the very finest teachers and dearest friends I have known is the man who was professor of speech and who worked patiently and helpfully with many of us to enable us in actual experience to learn how to stand up on our two feet, face an audience which at times could even be hostile and unresponsive, and be forced to deal with the issues without evasion but with forthrightness.

Those of us in that group are today lawyers, clergymen, doctors and businessmen in various parts of the country, and I am certain that all of them share with me a great sense of indebtedness to a splendid teacher, the experience of the group, and the opportunity to test our capacities in real life situations where "the truth will out."

Much of what we all were able to learn was however not in the know-how of speech making and debate but more deeply and meaningfully in the realization of our own intellectual and moral integrity. Those of us who are called upon to speak constantly could not possibly fulfill our vocations without such training, rough as it was at times.

But to get back to Walter Lippman's statement about what a debate is, this is especially pertinent in the ongoing debates within our national and international life as to the real issues of our society.

Far too much talk, which remains cheap, is expended on shooting at straw men, who cannot talk back, or will not be face to face, challenging our assertions, and requiring that we offer evidence.

It is essential that citizens debate the issues of the day, and be challenged to think, to pursue the roots of any matter, and to offer evidence of their claims and convictions.

Our entire judicial system and constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press, thoughts and assembly are related to all this. In our society a man is innocent until he is proven guilty, not just until someone claims he is guilty. How many individuals at times have been found guilty in the public eye before ever a trial has taken place.

How many individuals and groups categorized by this or that self-appointed custodian of morals or censorship or patriotism without being given any real opportunity to defend himself, without even any suggestion that evidence might be produced to refute irresponsible charges? Fortunately the congress and the courts and responsible elements of public opinion sooner or later will catch such tactics for what they are.

Enjoying the privileges of freedom under our way of government requires of us responsibility for defending justice, not just in principle as enshrined in stone over the entrance of the U.S. supreme court in Washington, "Equal Justice Under Law," but also in specific situations.

Gossip is an illustration of irresponsible dealing with the reputations of others, with no debate possible as to the merits of any charge because two people are not in the same room at the same time talking about the same thing.

Thus gossip is a violation of the ancient commandment that we bear no false witness against our neighbor. Such taboo against dishonest talk is also one of the basis of our courts of law and the bill of rights of our constitution.

The spirit of such respect for personality must ever be safeguarded as an essential condition for the maintenance and advancement of human liberty, with equal justice.

Unfortunately when people have strong convictions and strong emotions attached to them, we are all tempted to forget the need for objectivity, we can easily be blinded by passion, anger, anxiety or fear, and do violence to our principles of calm and cool judgment.

In dealing with controversial matters about which sincere men disagree, it is always necessary to debate issues wherever possible in the same room at the same time with those with whom we differ, and of course to retain a sense of humor, and a time of friendliness, refusing to question without cause the integrity, the good sense, of the integrity of the other person, even if we are convinced the person is wrong.

This sense of fair play is written into Holy Scripture. In the church we endeavor to maintain the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace, wherein different points of view may be held in a spirit of charity. This is intended to be an example as the most adequate way of dealing with tensions within society as a whole.

St. Matthew's Gospel, chapter 18, reads: "Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone; if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church."

In this word of sound advice our Lord offers us an example of fair play, which needs attention within every congregation of Christ's flock from time to time, and within the larger community in which all of us live, whether we offer allegiance to Christ or not. Witnesses will support claims, if they can, with evidence.

If needful, the whole community, whether a religious community such as the church, or any community of people, must finally come to some conclusion as to what is truth.

Issues in the common life, whether local, national or international can be dealt with effectively and adequately only when this kind of approach is used. Otherwise we throw more heat than light on any argument, and have no real debate.

I have always felt I could respect the mind and conscience of any person who is willing to consider facts and examine the available evidence, and is willing to hear out other points of view.

If such a person comes down on another side of any religious, social or intellectual fence from me, he has won my respect; what I cannot really respect, nor can you, is unwillingness to face reality, the idea that emotion is a substitute for reason, and avoidance of open and free confrontation with the minds of others.

Such attitudes can only result in subterfuge, evasion, insinuation, prejudice and pride.

No problems in human relations are either relieved or solved by such means. The truth will out. Let us never fear it, for truth is of God, and His Word abides forever.

BIOLOGIST CHARLES HAYNES, left, and Conservation Officer Mariel Morache, both Boise, autopsy deer for Idaho fish and game employees at recent ninth annual in-service training school. More than 100 deer have been autopsied by Haynes this past winter and most of the animals died from the effects of malnutrition. Wild deer and elk cannot be switched suddenly from natural browse shrubs and plants to hay, although semi-domesticated big game animals apparently get along on alfalfa when confined in parks. Such studies are planned to provide needed information. (Fish-game photo)

Idaho Rarely Feeds Large Herds of Game Unless Natural Supply Drops

BOISE, April 18—Idaho rarely feeds its elk and deer concentrations during hard winter months when there is not enough natural browse material to go around because a sudden switch to hay kills more wild ruminants outright than will die otherwise from malnutrition.

That is the simple answer to an often heard, but nevertheless, complicated question. It comes from many places around the state where wintering big game concentrations can be seen easily from roads by seemingly greater numbers of elk and deer.

Whether dead animals are found and assumed to be victims of starvation, the question always gains volume—sometimes with nasty overtones.

Whether hunters or not, Idahoans properly place great value on their wildlife resources. They do not understand why captive, semi-domesticated elk and deer in parks, for example, eat a steady diet of hay, yet wild animals will surely die when this is substituted for their natural browse plants and shrubs.

But there is a difference. It is a matter of the kinds of bacteria and one-celled organisms called protozoa which are fundamental to the digestive processes of all cud-chewing animals. This occurs in the rumen or first stomach of elk and deer and other ruminants. Different kinds of bacteria and protozoa are needed for each plant species an animal may be using.

Elk and deer sometimes come out of the foothills during the late evenings and nights and feed on haystacks. But in such cases, the hay they consume is just part of the diet. They can get into trouble, actually dying with full paunches or rumens of undigested hay, when they remain continuously on or near a feed lot.

These animals must have a mixed diet, even when they are browsing on natural herbs and shrubs. Bitterbrush is considered the main staple for deer because they like it and it is highly nutritious. Mountain mahogany is a close runner-up to bitterbrush.

A winter range where both shrubs are available in quantity is considered ideal by game managers. A range having only one browse species is poor, if not unsatisfactory. Deer also browse on juniper, rabbit brush, sagebrush and the like, but these are lesser species insofar as digestible nutrients are concerned.

Elk and deer never literally starve to death. When they are reduced to a steady diet of unnatural food such as hay or browse materials that cannot be digested, they often die from "compaction"—but with full rumens. The immediate cause of death may be pneumonia or other complications resulting from malnutrition and generally run-down, weakened physical condition.

Thus, a distinction is drawn between starvation and malnutrition. Starvation results from a complete lack of food, while malnutrition is the symptom of a diet which may be filling but below par in all other respects. Mothers everywhere wage this battle every day in terms of meat and potatoes versus soft drinks, candy and ice cream.

The questions remains—how come captive elk and deer subsist on hay? They do, although poorly, because they have been switched to alfalfa gradually, sometimes from infancy. This permits bacteria colonies that are specific for the digestion of hay to develop in the rumens of these animals. Nevertheless, alfalfa is a below standard, subsistence diet for them.

Experiments carried on with artificial feeding of elk and deer usually begin feeding hay early in November. This gives the animals, with a little help from nature, time to grow enough bacteria to digest alfalfa during the winter months.

Meanwhile, they go to the nearby foothills to browse on natural foods and come down to the feedlots only when it is time for a handout. Even so, many animals die with paunches full of hay. And some many bull elk lose so much hair that they freeze to death when they lie down on cold nights.

Such animals do not meet Idaho standards for big game, simply because they exist through the winter months on unnatural, substandard foods. Hunting seasons in the Gem state are set to harvest the annual surplus or crop of big game animals so that the wintering numbers will be within the browse capacity of the more restricted range.

The soundness of this management policy is evident to anyone who studies the statistical pages of the annual nationwide big game inventory published by the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife, a federal agency beyond the editorial control of any state. This publication ranks Idaho year after year as the top elk producing state with the greatest elk harvest in the nation—wild elk.

In other words, Idaho's herds, which feed entirely upon nature's fares, have demonstrated that thrifty wild herds yield higher returns to the hunter than semi-domesticated herds. Charles Haynes, Boise area game biologist, autopsied in the neighborhood of 100 or more deer picked up along the road skirting Lucky Peak reservoir northeast of the capital city. Most animals checked were heavily parasitized with infestations of the larvae from nose botflies, ticks, lice, keds (a wingless, bloodsucking fly), bladder and tapeworms. These parasites, even when found in abundance on the carcasses, did not cause death. Rather, they further weakened the animals already in bad shape, and disease finished the job.

Healthy animals are thrifty, according to Haynes, and do not provide good "habitat" for parasites in the same way that robust human beings are able to resist "colds" and other disease germs and viruses.

All animals carry parasites, just as people harbor germs. But the parasites do not become heavy infestations until an unthrifty animal becomes weakened from some other cause.

Haynes says biologists could learn what elk and deer are eating through laboratory analysis of the kinds or different species of bacteria in their rumens. It takes different species for different browse plants and shrubs. But such bacterial identification is a tedious job, especially when the simple way is to open a paunch and examine the contents.

Fortunately, most of the effects of malnutrition on big game animals during the late, unlamented winter are over. Usually animals found dead on early spring range still are suffering from the ravages of winter and the break in weather came too late.

It is possible, according to Haynes, to get some losses when the animals change abruptly from sparse forage on winter ranges to lush grass, tender leaves and other green vegetation. This sometimes leads to enterotoxemia, a disease stockmen know as "scours," pulpy kidney or just plain overeating. It is

Army Career, Youth, Community Work Marks Life of Walter Senften, Buhl

BUHL, April 18—A colorful army career, keen interest in youth work and civic club and community service mark the background story of one of Buhl's leading citizens, Walter (Cap) Senften.

Senften has led a full rich life dedicating many years to the service of his country and youth work. His principal interest in youth is easily recognized as Senften has been active continuously in the Scouting program, except for the war years and will receive his 40-year service pin from the Boy Scouts of America this year.

He organized the first Boy Scout troop in Grand Island, Nebr., and served as Scoutmaster of Buhl's Boy Scout troop 1 for 18 years. He is an Eagle Scout, holds the Beaver award, and was initiated into the Order of the Arrow last year.

He participated and served as judge for the spring camporee outings of the Sunset district and is presently serving as chairman of the health and safety committee of the Sunset district BSA.

Senften's youth work doesn't end with Scouting. He is a past president and director of the adult board of the Teen-O Youth center, and is presently serving as senior adviser for the Teen-O youth board. He participated in the building activities of the youth center refreshment booth at the Twin Falls county fair, in addition to assisting with the serving.

Senften is a member of the board of directors and chairman of activities committee of the Buhl chapter of the American Field service foreign student exchange program. He has served as a Sunday school teacher for many years, instructing the junior and senior high school students, as well as elder for the First Presbyterian church in Buhl.

Senften has never had any children of his own, but he has had many "boys," fondly referring to his Scouts, national guardsmen and Sunday school youngsters. He can look around and take pride in many "boys" in the community who were under his guidance in their younger years and who are now among the town's leading businessmen.

Senften pointed out he has always enjoyed children, liked working with them, and they in turn have helped him to stay young, he asserts.

"Cap," as he is known to everyone in the community, also is active in many other community and civic affairs. He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; is a past commander of the Buhl American Legion post, and past commander of the American Legion posts of the fifth district.

He served six years on the board of directors for the Buhl chapter of the American Red Cross, participating four years, first as chairman and then assistant chairman of the annual Red Cross finance campaign here. He is active in the Buhl Chamber of Commerce, presently serving on the Christmas lighting and decorating committee.

Senften holds the legion of honor award from the Kiwanis club and during his 30 years of membership in the local club has served as president, secretary and director. He also is a past lieutenant governor of division five, Kiwanis International, of the Utah-Idaho district.

Senften's enjoyment in reading led him to take an active interest in the Buhl public library. He has made and donated several very useful pieces of furniture to the library. He and his wife spent one summer cataloging practically all of the fiction books in the library and he always is available to offer his services to the library when the need arises.

In recognition of his work in the community he was awarded the Buhl Jaycee distinguished senior citizen award plaque in 1961.

Senften is a native of Claremont, Richland county, Ill. He was raised on a farm, attended a two-room country school and was graduated from Olney high school in Illinois in 1916. He is the youngest of six children.

Both his mother and father

immigrated here from Switzerland, met and were married in this country. His father, Fred Senften, although a professional guide in the Alps in Switzerland, turned to farming upon his arrival in the United States.

Senften's army career began after the outbreak of World War I. He enlisted April 11, 1917, four days after war was declared. During his first year of service he was promoted to the rank of sergeant, attended officer's training school and was commissioned second lieutenant and three months later was promoted to first lieutenant.

He served as first lieutenant in the tank corps until the war ended. Upon being discharged in December, 1919, he immediately accepted a commission as first lieutenant in the army reserves and two years later was promoted to captain.

After his discharge from the service he was graduated from the Business Administration college in Grand Island, Nebr., and then worked a short time for the Fairmont creamery in Nebraska.

In 1923 Senften decided to come west and join some of his family who had moved to Idaho. His parents came to Castleford in 1918 and then moved to Buhl, and two brothers, Fred and Henry Senften, and a sister, Mrs. Mars Bertelson, were residing here.

Senften, who has made his home in Buhl for the past 40 years, organized the first national guard company here after World War I, known as company "D," 186 infantry, later becoming company "D," 116th engineers.

Senften's commission continued in the national guard and as captain he served as commander of the local national guard unit for 17th years. During this time he was employed with the Buhl postoffice.

The nickname "Cap" was instituted when national guardsmen weren't familiar with his name and Senften was hard to pronounce so they automatically called him "Cap," denoting his rank as captain. The nickname caught on and soon everyone in the community was calling him "Cap." Even to this day there are many persons who don't realize that "Cap" is Walter Senften.

Senften was promoted to a major and then first battalion commander of the 116th engineers. The 40th division of the 110th engineers was inducted into active service into the army in 1940 and Senften went to Ft. Lewis.

In 1941 Senften was promoted lieutenant colonel. In October, 1943, he was transferred overseas with the 355th engineer regiment landing at Liverpool, England.

Senften's regiment landed on Omaha beach, 11 days after "D" day, and participated in four major battle engagements, with Senften finding himself in Frankfurt, Germany, at the close of the war. During his two years of active combat service, Senften was promoted to a full colonel.

Upon being discharged from the army he was recommended colonel in the national reserve and held this rank until he retired, completing a service record of 33 years and seven months of service which included the army, national reserve and national guard.

Senften resumed working at the Buhl postoffice when he returned from the war and held this position until he retired just a few years ago. Senften married the former Ruth Darling, Twin Falls, a teacher in the Twin Falls school system, in May, 1941. They reside on a small acreage in the Buhl Heights addition and live in the original home of his parents. However, some remodeling and additions have been made.

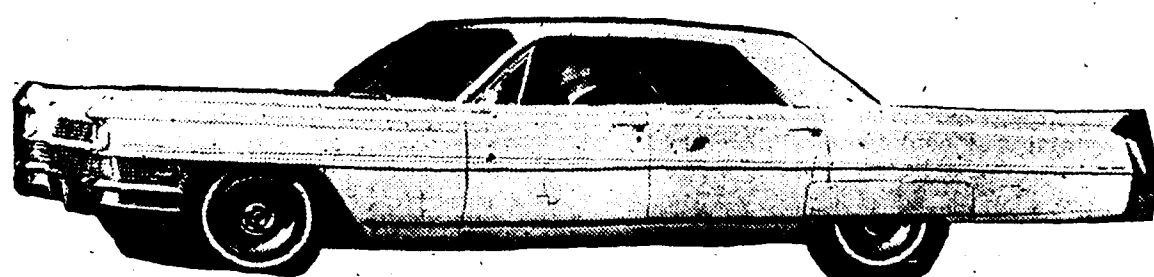

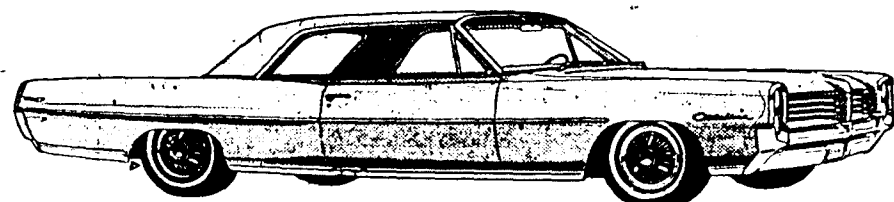

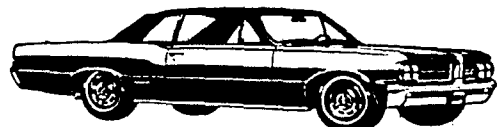

His hobbies include wood working, which is evident by the many unique copies of antique furniture found in his home. However, he mostly enjoys making gifts for his friends and a variety of his woodworking projects are found in local homes. He also applies his talent to making gifts for his friends' children, as well as for underprivileged children.

His other hobbies include playing the Hammond organ, which he says, he plays "strictly for himself" and photography. He started out years ago with an old box camera and now has some 1,000 colored slides.

Senften doesn't know the meaning of retire. Besides keeping busy with his hobbies and working in the community, he also takes time out to oversee his farm in Castleford and acreage in Buhl.

What About Aluminum?

Visions of economic sugarplums for areas served by Bonneville power (the tax-subsidized federal electric system on the Columbia river) begin to dissipate when faced by reality. Take the war-born aluminum plants for instance.

Following World War II (during which the federal government located, financed and provided a market for aluminum expansion) Bonneville power served 44% of the nation's aluminum production capacity. Fifteen years later the 44% figure was down to 27.7% as additional capacity was added, significantly, in other parts of the nation.

In the five-year period 1954-59, for instance, production of aluminum in the Pacific Northwest increased by 4%; for the balance of the United States, aluminum production increased 49%.

Recently, the aluminum plants served by Bonneville power have been operating at less than their capacity.

It goes to show that Bonneville power—subsidized as it is by taxpayers—is no panacea for industrial development.

Research on Cancer in Fish Brings Awards to Men at Hagerman Hatchery

WENDELL, April 18 — Robert R. Smith, Wendell, and his fellow workers at the federal fish nutrition laboratory at Hagerman, have received a sustained superior performance award for pioneer research in the field of cancer in fish.

Dr. John F. Halver, chief of the Western Fish Nutrition Laboratory, Willard, Wash., acting in behalf of the secretary of the interior and the regional director of the fish and wildlife service, presented the awards to the laboratory men recently.

Their research contributed to the breakthrough in identifying causes for liver cancer in rainbow trout.

Smith was cited for outstanding leadership and supervision over the period August, 1961, to December, 1963. Max E. Larson, Hagerman, and Monte G. Petersen, Wendell, were recognized for outstanding cooperation in experiments testing effect of many chemical carcinogens, pesticide wastes, hormones and oxidized fats on developments of liver tumors and cancer in young trout.

Also as a result of these experiments characteristics of the growth of these cancers and the role of many fat soluble compounds as primary and secondary precursors for tumors were defined.

Major contributions included finding 12 chemicals, which fed to fish, induce liver tumors, perfecting surgical techniques whereby rate of development of tumors could be followed in each fish by periodic inspection of the livers of living fish; and most

West German News Agency Closes Doors

MOSCOW, April 18 (UPI) — The Soviet Union closed the Moscow bureau of the West German news service Deutsche Presse-Agentur and ordered its correspondent to leave the country because of a DPA dispatch reporting that Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev had died.

"For distributing provocative, slanderous information, the press department of the Soviet foreign ministry has asked the West German press agency DPA to close their Moscow bureau and asked correspondent Heinz Wurzel to leave Soviet territory within 24 hours," an announcement said.

DPA's dispatch was distributed Monday night, it said. Khrushchev had died from a liver ailment after a four-day illness.

DPA later killed the story and blamed it on a "misunderstanding." Wurzel presented the apologies of the agency's director-general and chief editor Wednesday after the foreign ministry lodged a stiff protest.

LATEST IN A LINE of thoroughbred horses raised for racing purposes by Rankin Rutherford is Mr. Shoo, now just 11 months old and romping around the Rutherford farm near Castleford on Buhl's route one. This intelligent animal is a nephew of the stallion which brought the record price when sold for stud. Rutherford, shown here with Mr. Shoo, had his first win by a 2-year-old he owns and which is running at the Callente track in Mexico. (Times-News photo)

Racehorse Owned by Buhl Couple Wins First Place at Famed Mexico Track

BUHL, April 18—When—and if—later. After retirement, he and his wife traveled extensively, but finally his doctor told him that to settle his nerves and keep him quiet, something other than this was necessary.

"So, I decided that raising race horses was just the thing. After all, I had always liked to play around with raising pretty horses and here was my opportunity to really go in for it," Rutherford said.

He did just that. He went in for fine horses, known as Kentucky thoroughbreds. He purchased two of the animals from a breeder at Chino, Calif. Both were mares and one was with colt.

The colt was named Kingly's Flash and was raised on the farm near Buhl.

Just a couple of weeks ago—as a three-year-old—Kingly's Flash came in first in a race at Callente in Mexico.

The race was the second in which the horse had been entered. That initial effort resulted in a second place.

"We were pleased as all get out," Rutherford said here, "and just yesterday we got the news that another colt that was raised on our farm and which was named Kemmetson, had finished in the money in two other races."

Now the former stockman is in the racing business for sure.

Another colt, with the name of Mr. Shoo because his sire was The Shoe, is romping around the Rutherford acres getting strong enough to carry on the racing colors of the family. Mr. Shoo is now 11 months old.

Like the other colts, it was bred and born in California but "raised in Idaho."

He points out that thoroughbred racing horses are now starting to come into this section of Idaho and may be used for breeding purposes.

Nurses Get Jolts When Making Beds

LONDON, April 18 (AP)—British nurses complained today that making hospital beds is a shocking job.

Nearly every time they touch a sheet or pillow, they get a mild jolt from static electricity, nurse E. M. Hanfield said in a letter in the Nursing Mirror.

"A bed from which we don't actually get a shock is becoming very rare," she wrote.

The nursing association, the nurse's labor union, said the trouble probably was due to nylon underwear worn by the nurses. Midwife Hilda Griffiths, quoted by the Nursing Mirror, blamed plastic covers in which hospital beds are wrapped when not in use.

An official at the Royal College of Nursing said the shocks are "only a slight sensation and not harmful in any way."

Ex-Rupert Woman Lauds Alaska Spirit

RUPERT, April 18—The courage and strength being shown by Alaskan residents in the rehabilitation of devastated areas after the earthquake is lauded by a former Rupert woman who has written relatives here.

Many humorous signs are displayed on ruined or damaged business houses in Anchorage, according to Mrs. Martha Pederson, sister of Mrs. Dale Trantam, Rupert.

One sign on a theater, which had dropped down with the second floor even with the street, stated "Balcony seats only." One store displayed a sign reading, "Due to early spring break-up we have moved to a new location on 15th avenue."

Among the many humorous signs making the rounds are "Standing on the Corner Watching the Street Divide," by the Spills, and "Houses Over the Cliffs," by the Tremors.

"This humorous reaction to tragedy is but an indication of the indomitable spirit of the people of Anchorage," Mrs. Pederson writes.

The former Martha Attlessey, she is the daughter of Mrs. Minerva Attlessey, Rupert, and was graduated from the Rupert high school in 1949. She has lived in Anchorage the past three years, being employed by the Sears store there.

She writes that on Monday after the Good Friday earthquake, the entire personnel of the store turned out and by 4 p.m. everything was picked up and ready for business again—not quite ship-shape, but ready for business.

Mrs. Pederson was at the Sears store and crouched next to her desk as the light fixtures swung overhead, papers flew and filing cabinets tipped.

She said looking outside she could see glass crumbling into the street and buildings breaking and cracking apart. In the silence which followed the quake she went outside to find the J. C. Penney store had toppled to the ground, crushing parked cars flat.

The fabulous new glass building of the First Federal Savings and Loan association still was standing, but shattered, with one side out in the street crushing a parked car, she writes.

The former Rupert woman was fortunate in finding her house intact, but upon entering she writes she would have been horrified "if I hadn't just come from the downtown area."

Dishes were shattered over the floor, furniture was every which way, looking as if someone was preparing to move. Her son, Steven, who had been in a campout with his Scout troop during the quake, returned safe and full of talk of his adventures at camp.

She said on K street, where she lived last winter, the little house in which she had lived had been picked up and set back down.

The animal came in second in the initial race in which it was entered. The Rutherford's raise racing horses more or less as a hobby and may, when things are right, enter some of their animals in Idaho races. (Official Callente track photo) streets the owners had worked all night in knee-deep rubble to be ready to serve people the next morning.

Another sister, Mrs. Ruth Chapman, also lives in Anchorage with her husband and family. They, too, were unharmed.

The Alaskan women have a brother, Elmer Attlessey, and a sister, Mrs. Betty Larson, both of whom reside in Rupert.

School Exchange Assemblies Provide Students Opportunity to Show Talent

of boys who have been together four years.

They call themselves the "Four Sharp" and have appeared about every place there is to appear around the valley. In other words, they are good.

They specialize in the barbershop type of music, but now and then—in costume—they swing into things like Rigoletto.

Thus, Dave Knutson, Dennis Dossett, Art Vandenberg and Ron Wilson have reached what might be the peak of their careers.

After graduation this spring, three probably will enter the University of Idaho next fall, but the fourth has an eye on Princeton. The other three are working on Wilson in an attempt to get him to change his mind. After all, why break up the old quartet after four years?

The talent and exchange assemblies also have brought a stage to those talented in other ways than singing or instrumental accomplishments.

The polished voice and flawless delivery of the dramatic recitation also has been given a springboard.

Take, for instance, Bob Nora, Jr. This is his second year in this field and, practically speaking, he hit the jackpot.

At the Key club talent contest at Salt Lake City earlier this month he won first place in competition with boys from over several states. His presentation was "The Prodigal Son."

As a result of this outstanding win, he will go to Dallas, Tex., July 5-8, where he will compete in the national Key club talent contests. His opposition will be gifted boys from throughout the United States.

Interested in declamation and debate, he has another year to practice on local audiences. He is a junior class member.

And so it goes. Boys and girls come and go at the various high schools, but the talent assemblies—and the exchange assemblies—seem to be here to stay and gain in popularity.

Long hair or short hair, loud music or soft, highbrow songs or lowbrow, highbrow dancing or that with a downbeat, it is all popular.

And the end result cannot help but be fun, fellowship and experience.

Who knows? Someday a Magic Valley boy or girl who has appeared in the spotlight at a school assembly may be taking the applause before worldwide audiences.

GOOD MORNING, GUNNOR!

GOOD MORNING TO YOU, TOO, SIR!

SPRING IS A WONDERFUL SEASON! NATURE'S BEAUTIES SEEM TO STIR THE BEST MOODS IN EVERYONE! IMAGINE THAT BRUISER WISHING ME A GOOD MORNING!

SAY, MISTER, A SWELL DRESSER LIKE YOU OUGHT TO HAVE AN EXTRA QUARTER FOR A BOWL OF SOUP FOR A FELLA WHO'S A BIT DOWN ON HIS LUCK!

MY TAILOR WILL APPRECIATE YOUR KIND WORDS, SIR! I HOPE YOU ENJOY YOUR SOUP!

HEY, MAC, THE TANTALIZIN' AROMA FROM YER CIGAR IS MORE 'N I CAN RESIST! YA GOT AN EXTRA ONE?

IT SO HAPPENS THAT I HAVE ANOTHER ONE - BUT IF YOU WERE AS INDUSTRIOUS AS I AM, YOU TOO COULD AFFORD THESE TASTY PANATELAS!

7-14 Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

EGAD, I'D BEST LEAVE THE PARK BEFORE I'M PENNILESS - IT'S COST ME 25 CENTS AND A FINE CIGAR IN FIVE MINUTES!

SURELY THERE'S GAINFUL EMPLOYMENT FOR THESE WASTRELS! WHY THE CITY COULD JUST LOOK AT THAT BUILDING! IT'S PRACTICALLY FALLING DOWN! SOYE, I'LL WRITE THE MAYOR!

ARE YOU WRITING THE GREAT AMERICAN NOVEL, OR ARE YOU JUST COMPILING A LIST OF YOUR CREDITORS?

HOW DROLL, MARTHA! I'M WRITING THE MAYOR TO SUGGEST HE PROCLAIM A TWO-WEEK CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN!

THIS TOWN CAN USE SOME PAINTING, CLEANING AND REMODELING! AND MANY OUT-OF-WORK CITIZENS COULD EARN SOME NEEDED DOLLARS! HAR-RUMPH!

WELL, WELL, MR. SPRUCE-UP, YOU'VE GIVEN ME AN IDEA! THE STORM WINDOWS CAN COME DOWN AND THE SCREENS CAN GO UP - THE PORCH COULD WALK NEED CLEANING, TOO! YOU QUALIFY 100% AS AN OUT-OF-WORK CASE!

BUT, PET, YOU DON'T UNDER- (YOU - REFUSE, DID YOU SAY?)

STAND! THIS LETTER IS TO RELIEVE THE ECONOMIC DISTRESS OF THE INDIGENT AND IDLENT FREQUENTERS OF OUR PARKS! I REFUSE TO DEVOTE MY VALUABLE TIME TO YOUR MENIAL TASKS!

EGAD, THAT WOMAN'S FURY KNOWS NO BOUNDS! TO NO MORE STAND UP TO HER WITH THAT ROLLING PIN IN HER HAND THAN I WOULD TO AN ANGRY COBRA!

Captain EASY

by LESLIE TURNER

NO MONEY FOR ME! I'LL START MY OWN AGENCY WHEN THE BOYS TEACH ME THE ROPES!

Well, Bonnie's gran'pa invited us to dinner t'explain that he wasn't a professional crook - only a banker...

MR. McDONALD, I AN' JEFF AN' OUR JUNIOR PARTNER, CAPTAIN EASY, IS GLAD THERE WASN'T ANY BLOODSHED IN THIS CASE!

GRAMPTH, PLEETH TELL UTH ABOUT TH' MONEY!

WELL, BONNIE, ONE OF THE BANK DIRECTORS ASKED ME TO HIRE A BLACKSHEEP NEPHEW OF HIS, A YEAR AGO...

"Bonnie's gramp was talkin' about Perry Bilgewater, a guy who shot songbirds an' dynamited for fish..."

BOOM!

I WANTED TO HELP YOUNG BILGEWATER GET STRAIGHTENED OUT, SO I GAVE HIM A JOB AS TELLER... BUT I DECIDED TO WATCH HIM!

"Mr. McDonald said Perry fell for a gold digger... I don't think I'd wanna marry a lady miner..."

BILGEWATER BEGAN ACTING NERVOUS AND I FIGURED HE WAS UP TO SOMETHING...

WHAT DID HE DO, GRAMPTH?

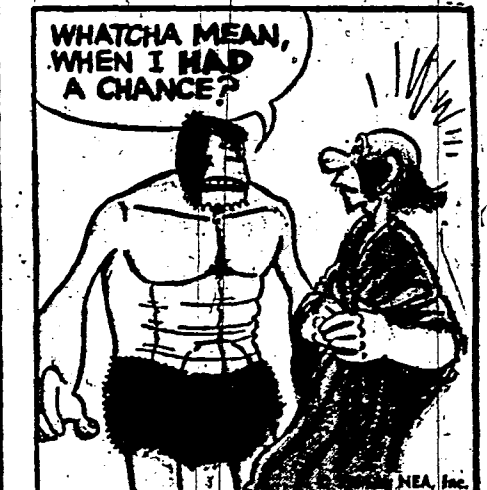

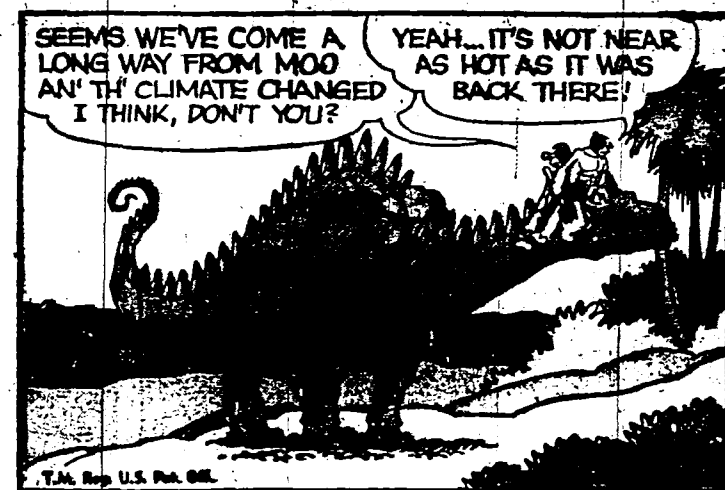

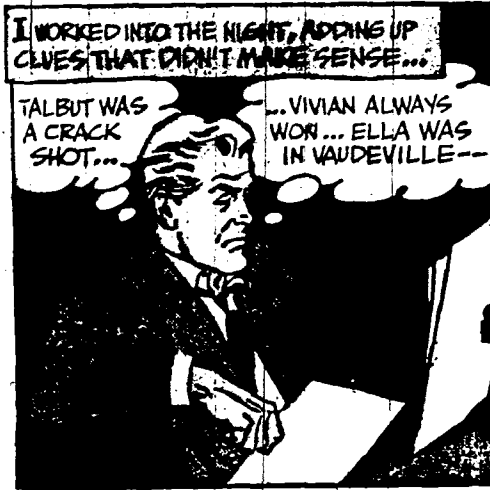

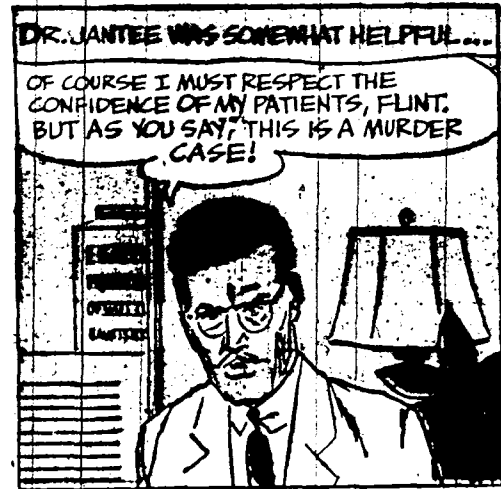

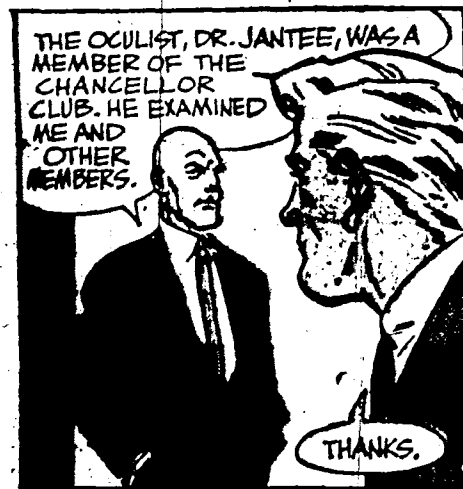

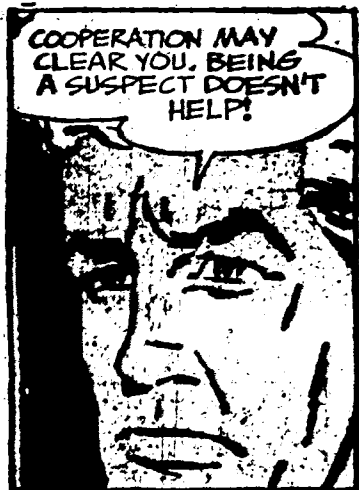

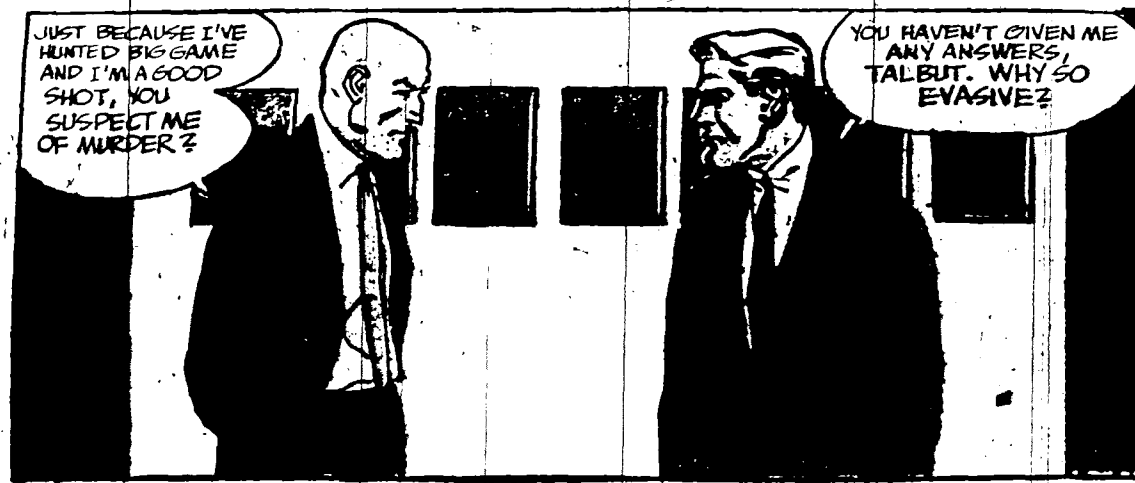

"One day, Mr. McDonald saw Bilge go into the vault an' take somethin' from his pocket..."

... A FEW MINUTES LATER, I DISCOVERED BILGEWATER HAD TAKEN $1000 AND REPLACED IT WITH COUNTERFEIT MONEY!
